70,000 Homeless On Guam After Visit By Typhoon Karen

Red Cross Sending Aid To Island

Hundreds Injured, Property Damage Over $100 Million

HONOLULU (AP)—Guam struggled Monday to shovel out from the blitz of a monster typhoon that left many of the 70,000 islanders homeless, one dead, hundreds injured, and destruction described as unbelievable.

Typhoon Karen, unleashing winds of up to 172 miles an hour, tore through the tiny island Sunday night and Monday morning, Guam time, and left at least $100 million in damage.

Manuel Guerrero, acting governor of Guam, messaged: "Entire territory devastated by Typhoon Karen."

Specifics of the wreckage were nearly impossible to learn as communications failures isolated the island hub of the United States' Pacific defense ring.

Mass Of Destruction

An amateur radio operator here picked up this message: "Guam is just one mass of destruction. Water and power are out altogether. The destruction is unbelievable."

Commercial radio companies reported a Guam station destroyed by the typhoon. Military offices here, in Japan and in the continental United States could furnish little information.

The Honolulu ham operator heard that downtown Agana, the biggest city, is "completely flat." Trees are scattered, roads impassable, and cars and trucks smashed. Temporary structures at Andersen Air Force Base were reported 90 per cent destroyed.

The Federal Aviation Agency sent planes from Honolulu with repair materials to Wake Island to await word that runways in Guam had been cleared sufficiently for them to land.

Aid On The Way

The American Red Cross said in Washington it would send a disaster director and four aides from Tokyo to help the islanders.

The FAA said more than 100 mothers and children had requested evacuation to Wake and Honolulu.

Homes in Guam were built to withstand the fury of tropical storms, but all lost their roofs to Karen, said the FAA.

Mississippi Jury Probes Rioting On Ole Miss Campus

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—A Circuit Court judge told a grand jury Monday that it should indict President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy if the jurors felt the President and his brother were responsible for the Sept. 30 rioting that swept the "Ole Miss" campus and resulted in two deaths.

Judge W. M. O'Barr also told a Lafayette County grand jury, which began an investigation Monday into the two fatalities, to refuse any evidence gathered in the U.S. Army searches of university dormitories, on grounds the searches were unconstitutional.

O'Barr said "any man who either pulls the trigger of a gun or orders some other person to pull the trigger, or who is responsible for creating a situation, the ultimate outcome of which is the killing of a human being, in direct viollation of the law, should be indicted and tried in the court of competent jurisdiction.

General Application

"This applies not only to the most lowly human being on the face of the earth, but also to John F. Kennedy, (his) little stupid brother Robert Kennedy, Mr. (James) McShane or any other human being," O'Barr said in his charge to the jurors.

McShane is the chief U.S. marshal. He was on the University of Mississippi campus when deputy U.S. marshals slipped Negro James H. Meredith onto the campus Sept. 30. Two men were killed, both shot, and scores injured in the 14 hours of rioting that followed Meredith's entry onto the school grounds.

The two fatalities were Paul Guihard, a French news agency reporter, and Ray Gunter, an Oxford juke box repairman. Guihard was shot in the back. Gunter was struck in the head by a bullet and instantly killed.

Strongly Worded

In his strongly worded charge, the judge said: "According to the President, attorney general, Congress and Supreme Court, civil rights applies only to those that the party in power believes they can control in the next election by forcing a minority upon a majority.

O'Barr said the U.S. Constitution had been "shorn of all meaning by a diabolical political Supreme Court made up of political greedy old men who are not qualified to serve as judges of any court.

"This court, together with a hungry, mad, ruthless, ungodly, power-mad men who would change this government, a democracy to a totalitarian dictatorship, have attempted to crush the people of this state through the excuse of upholding and enforcing an unlawful order that had not become final," the judge said in the charge.

Report In Day Or Two

The grand jurors are expected to return their presentments late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

In mentioning Army searches of the "Ole Miss" dormitories, O'Barr apparently referred to two made Oct. 29 by armed troops at Baxter and Lester Halls.

U. S. To Insist Cuba Give Up Red Aircraft

Tough Negotiating Is Foreseen As Kennedy Makes Stand Clear

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported standing firm Monday on its insistence that Soviet bombers, as well as missiles, be removed from Cuba.

This word came from the White House after a strategy session lasting nearly two hours between President Kennedy and his top advisers in the Cuban crisis.

The only other word from presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger was that the group had made an across-the-board review of the situation including negotiations under way in the United Nations.

Salinger added that reports were made by U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and John J. McCloy, a special negotiator in the Cuban talks in New York with the Soviets and with U Thant, the acting U.N. secretary-general.

Main Policy Makers

Others at the White House session included the main policy makers in the Cuban affair including the secretaries of state and defense, he said.

Other informants forecast tough negotiating ahead, and there even is a growing expectation that some of the elements of the Kennedy - Khrushchev agreement for a Cuban settlement may never be fulfilled.

Salinger said specifically that the United States is still standing by its demand for a withdrawal of Soviet bombers from Cuba as well as missiles.

42 Missiles Moved

With Sunday's count showing 42 missiles headed back to the Soviet Union aboard Soviet ships, U.S. authorities figure the atomic rocket menace from Cuba has been virtually removed. But the two dozen or more Soviet IL28 bombers believed remaining in Cu-

Red Chinese, Indians In Gun Battle

Sector Had Been Quiet For About Three Weeks

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian and Red Chinese troops are exchanging shots again on the eastern sector of the Himalayan front, which had been in a lull for three weeks.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said Monday five Indians were wounded in weekend patrol clashes around Walong, a strategic town in the jungled valley of the Luhit River 15 miles from the Burma border.

The fighting included what he called a probing action by a Red Chinese party of unspecified size. The Chinese fired on an Indian position near Walong on Saturday night and then withdrew.

Artillery Used

A Peiping broadcast said Indian artillery shelled Chinese positions north of the Towang River, loosing more than 100 rounds Saturday. Indian planes, it said, flew repeatedly over the Communist lines on missions of "reconnaissance, harassment and provocation."

Prime Minister Nehru told newsmen he has asked the United States for planes to help India fight the undeclared war. He did not say what type he wanted.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman commented that there has been some discussion concerning inclusion of air transports in U.S. military aid to India.

Nehru hopes to get supersonic jet fighters from the Soviet Union next month. A dozen are reported on order, though none has yet showed up.

Minister of State K. Raghuramiah told Parliament that Indonesia has agreed to sell India eight second-hand jet trainers.

Airlift Successful

The prime minister talked for an hour with 24 newsmen who came here with the American airlift that has brought in $5 million worth of U.S. weapons, ammunition, transport and communications equipment.

Asked why the airlift has been played down by the Indian press and scarcely mentioned by the government radio, Nehru said this was done for security reasons.

In addition to American aircraft Nehru said India has asked the United States for arms-making tools.

India's retention of diplomatic ties with Red China was again a subject of discussion in Parliament. Nehru announced he is still opposed to a break in diplomatic relations.

Meany-Reuther To Talk Over Differences

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor leaders George Meany and Walter Reuther decided Monday to talk over their differences some more rather than take them to a showdown that might split the AFL-CIO.

Reuther backed down from his reported determination of a few days earlier to challenge what he considers a veto power exercised by Meany, the AFL-CIO president, over recommendations made by former CIO unions. Reuther was head of the old CIO.

Instead of the bolt from the merged labor movement that had been threatened by Reuther's Auto Workers Union, it was announced the two contesting labor leaders had decided to make a new try for a mutually acceptable settlement of their policy differences. Reuther issued a statement stressing the need to preserve a unified labor organization.

Meany told newsmen after a closed meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council that Reuther is leaving for Japan Tuesday night and, as soon as he returns, the two probably will get together in an effort to compose their differences over filling a council vacancy.

Bank Looted At Laurel

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—A bandit held up two female clerks at the Laurel branch of the Loyola Federal Savings and Loan Association and escaped with $3,000 Monday while local police were busy directing race track traffic.

The manager of the bank, Robert Peterman, said the man entered the office, pulled out a pistol and ordered the two clerks to turn over the money in a cash drawer behind a counter.

The clerks, Peterman said, handed the money across the counter and the bandit walked out the front door, escaping on foot.

The clerks, Miss Alexandria Robertson and Mrs. Delores Norris, were the only persons in the office at the time of the robbery, said Peterman, who left the building minutes before the man entered.

The bank employes called Laurel Police, who were joined in the investigation by State Police and the FBI.

The holdup took place at 1:55 p. m. as thousands of cars poured into the Laurel Race Course grounds. The $125,000 Laurel International race was run two hours later.

Truman Library Reports Theft Of Prized Coins

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Burglars stole an historic coin collection, valued at possibly $50,000, from the Truman Library Monday. Officers speculated the loot was immediately passed to the first of a series of "fences."

"This was a professional job all the way, and since you cannot sell a thing of that kind just anywhere we must presume that disposal of the loot was planned in detail and in advance," a police detective said.

"They may already have gotten rid of it."

The coins, dating back to 1789, comprised a collection owned by John W. Snyder, former secretary of the treasury, and loaned to the library, which houses the letters, documents, gifts and personal mementoes acquired by Harry S. Truman during his tenure as president.

Both Snyder and Dr. Philip Brooks, head of the library staff, declined to place a monetary value on the collection, Brooks explaining that "you cannot express historical values in terms of money."

However, unofficial sources estimated the coins individually were worth a total of $50,000 and the collection, intact, a great deal more.

Investigators believed at least two men, and probably three or four, entered the library after drilling a hole in the lock of a rear door.

Food Prices Remain Same Over Decade

NEW YORK (UPI)—The housewife today pays only 20 cents of her income dollar for food and the prices she pays at the supermarket are about the same as 10 years ago, President Paul S. Willis of the Grocery Manufacturers Association said Monday.

Willis told 2,000 food industry leaders that in 20 years, the food industry's volume has grown from $20 billion to $80 billion a year.

Disarmament Talks Resume Next Week

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The 17-nation Geneva disarmament committee will reconvene next week at the conclusion of the arms debates here, informed sources said Monday.

The expected resumption date was between Nov. 21 and Nov. 23, with the 22nd the most frequently mentioned.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin proposed Monday that the Geneva conference be deferred until the disarmament debate winds up in the General Assembly. He estimated that this should be the middle or end of next week.

Zorin told the General Assembly's Political Committee it was important that the assembly make further directives for guidance of the Geneva committee's future work.

The eight neutral nations participating at Geneva discussed the question Monday afternoon, and informed sources said it was agreed that Nov. 22 was the most likely date for resumption of negotiations.

Mikoyan May Be In Cuba For Long Period

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban exile sources with Havana contacts Monday predicted a prolonged stay in the Cuban capital for Moscow's trouble-shooting Anastas Mikoyan, Soviet deputy premier.

They expressed belief Mikoyan is "playing a waiting game" in Cuba with Premier Fidel Castro as well as the United States.

Mikoyan, who arrived in Havana 10 days ago to smooth out Soviet-Cuban "differences," may be under orders to stay there until the U.S. final position on the Soviet missile withdrawal is known, the exiles said. Two other pending questions — American demands for withdrawal of Russian bombers and the unsettled issue of on-site verification of missile removals — could drag out his stay.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's personal emissary might as well be back in his native Armenia as far as the Cuban radio and press is concerned.

Havana Radio's first mention of Mikoyan since last Tuesday came Monday when it was reported he would visit the University of Havana. However, it was not clear if it would be a courtesy call or if he would speak to the student body.

The Cuban government press in its first mention of Mikoyan in the past three days merely reported his return to Havana from a weekend in the interior.

Jordan's RAF General Asks Political Asylum

CAIRO (UPI)—Brig. Suheil Elazzawi, director general of Jordan's Royal Air Force, flew here Monday in a military aircraft and asked for political asylum, the Middle East News Agency reported.

The dispatch said Elizzawi, piloting a British-made De Havilland troop carrier, landed at Cairo International Airport.

Pro-Monarchist Radio Mecca said Monday Yemeni Monarchist forces have captured the northern fortress of Silway in a two-hour battle in which 150 Egyptians and Yemeni revolutionary troops were killed.

The broadcast, quoting a monarchist communique, said artillery and "massive waves of tribesmen" overwhelmed the fortress this weekend. It said Egyptian planes earlier dropped incendiary bombs on the Monarchists, killing 12 and wounding 20.

The station said Royalist forces were attacking Qatabh, near the Aden protectorate border, and expected to advance northward in an attempt to cut off road communications with Sanaa, the capital city.

The Middle East News Agency said nearly 10,000 Yemeni tribal warriors were preparing for a "holy war" against pro-Royalist forces.

U.S. Marines To Show Tanks At Guantanamo

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—The U.S. Marines planned Monday night to assemble a huge column of tanks for a show of force today along the fence dividing this naval base from Communist Cuba.

The disclosure came after a small group of Marines working in the shadow of a tiny American flag were stoned earlier Monday by rag-tag Cuban militiamen. The Marines ignored the flying rocks —and went right on building a new machine gun bunker.

No official word was given on how many tanks would be paraded before the Cuban militia and troops hovering on the other side of the fence in Oriente Province.

Nor was any specific reason advanced for the demonstration, set to begin at 8:30 a.m., other than to suggest to the Cubans what they would be up against if they attacked the 45-mile square base.

However, the decision to mount the armored tanks came amid reports of increasing rock throwing by Cuban militia at U.S. troops along the fence.

Wilcoxson Bond Is Set At $100,000

BALTIMORE (AP)—Federal authorities awaited detainers from New York City and Buffalo, N. Y., Monday before deciding what to do with Bobby Randell (One Eye) Wilcoxson and his girl friend, Jacqueline Rose.

The 33-year-old accused bank robber, on the FBI's 10-most-wanted list and described as a "modern-day Dillinger," was arrested with Miss Rose, 19, here during the weekend. Both were held in bail of $100,000 each in Baltimore City Jail on a bench warrant from Buffalo.

Thomas J. Jenkins, special agent in charge of the Baltimore FBI office, said Monday the next legal move in the case would be up to U. S. Atty. Joseph D. Tydings of Baltimore.

"It'll be up to him as to where he asks for him (Wilcoxson) to be removed," said Jenkins. "We have no charge against him here in Baltimore at this time."

Wilcoxson is wanted for a number of bank robberies. In one of them, in Brooklyn, N. Y., a bank guard was machine - gunned to death. Miss Rose is charged with driving the getaway car on at least one occasion.

Nixon Offered Equal Time For Reply To Sunday's Network Television Show On His Political Career

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) said Monday that if Richard M. Nixon asks for equal time to reply to a controversial network television show on his political career he will get it.

Hundreds of telephone calls and telegrams—more than 1,000 in the network's New York headquarters alone—poured into ABC affiliates throughout the country, many of them criticizing the appearance of Alger Hiss on the program. Others termed the show "worthwhile" and "timely."

The half-hour Sunday night program—titled "The Political Obituary of Richard Nixon"—was comprised of taped interviews and of comments by moderator Howard K. Smith.

"We gave both sides a fair presentation on this show," a network spokesman said.

Equal Time Okayed

James C. Hagerty, ABC vice president in charge of news who was President Eisenhower's press secretary, said that Nixon would receive equal time if he requested it.

Hagerty explained that while ABC was not directly inviting to take equal time, if the former vice president asked for it, it would be granted.

Former Rep. Jerry Voorhis, California Democrat whom Nixon defeated in 1946, said in Washington Monday that he telephoned ABC headquarters in New York Sunday and told a network official that any use of his taped remarks on Sunday night's program would be without his authority if Hiss' taped discussion of Nixon was used on the same program. The network used tapes of both Voorhis and Hiss.

Hagerty was not immediately available for comment on Voorhis' statement.

Hiss, former State Department official convicted of perjury in 1950 after a congressional investigation led by Nixon, said he believed his prosecution by Nixon, then a congressman, was politically motivated.

Also appearing on the program were Murray Chotiner, Los Angeles attorney who managed Nixon's first campaign and was an "unpaid volunteer" in the gubernatorial race this year, and Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., a longtime friend of Nixon.

In Los Angeles, Herbert Klein, press secretary of Nixon during his unsuccessful campaign to unseat Gov. Edmund G. Brown, called the program "a new low in undistinguished reporting."

"It set out to kick Richard Nixon and accomplished its goal by substituting innuendo for fact," Klein said.

"The innuendo that Mr. Nixon had at any time painted Ambassador Stevenson, former President Truman and Dean Acheson as traitors was a particularly disgraceful example of the inaccuracy and bias which marked this particular piece of television reporting."

Quotes Smith's Remark

Klein referred to a remark by Smith at the end of the show. Smith said:

"He (Nixon) applied the word traitor to President Truman and Governor Stevenson and Secretary Acheson. He was vague as to what they were traitors to . . . but the word meant the worst to the public. That kind of talk is not a part of the normal rough and tumble of politics. It not only damages good men, it damages national life."

On the program, Hiss said he had no feeling of hostility against Nixon, although he regarded the former vice president's actions against him as "motivated by ambition, by personal self-serving."

Hiss, now a New York salesman, was convicted and jailed on perjury charges in connection with his association with the late Whittaker Chambers who at one time was a Soviet spy courier. Hiss steadfastly maintained he was innocent of the charges.

Ecumenical Council Urges Common Date To Observe Easter

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Ecumenical Council delegates proposed talks Monday with non-Catholic Christian churches to adopt a common date for Easter.

It was the council's first proposal of negotiations with other faiths on a religious subject of joint interest. Christian unity was an announced goal of Pope John XXIII in calling the historic conclave.

Both Catholics and Protestants now observe Easter on the first Sunday after the first full moon of spring. The date varies from year to year between March 22 and April 25.

Eastern Orthodox churches, however, celebrate Easter on dates which do not coincide among their own faiths or with the western churches. All the eastern churches maintain that Easter must follow the Jewish Passover. In addition, some follow obsolete calendars.

Food Prices Remain Same Over Decade

NEW YORK (UPI)—The housewife today pays only 20 cents of her income dollar for food and the prices she pays at the supermarket are about the same as 10 years ago, President Paul S. Willis of the Grocery Manufacturers Association said Monday.

Willis told 2,000 food industry leaders that in 20 years, the food industry's volume has grown from $20 billion to $80 billion a year.

Mikoyan May Be In Cuba For Long Period

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban exile sources with Havana contacts Monday predicted a prolonged stay in the Cuban capital for Moscow's trouble-shooting Anastas Mikoyan, Soviet deputy premier.

They expressed belief Mikoyan is "playing a waiting game" in Cuba with Premier Fidel Castro as well as the United States.

Mikoyan, who arrived in Havana 10 days ago to smooth out Soviet-Cuban "differences," may be under orders to stay there until the U.S. final position on the Soviet missile withdrawal is known, the exiles said. Two other pending questions — American demands for withdrawal of Russian bombers and the unsettled issue of on-site verification of missile removals — could drag out his stay.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's personal emissary might as well be back in his native Armenia as far as the Cuban radio and press is concerned.

Havana Radio's first mention of Mikoyan since last Tuesday came Monday when it was reported he would visit the University of Havana. However, it was not clear if it would be a courtesy call or if he would speak to the student body.

The Cuban government press in its first mention of Mikoyan in the past three days merely reported his return to Havana from a weekend in the interior.

Disarmament Talks Resume Next Week

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The 17-nation Geneva disarmament committee will reconvene next week at the conclusion of the arms debates here, informed sources said Monday.

The expected resumption date was between Nov. 21 and Nov. 23, with the 22nd the most frequently mentioned.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin proposed Monday that the Geneva conference be deferred until the disarmament debate winds up in the General Assembly. He estimated that this should be the middle or end of next week.

Zorin told the General Assembly's Political Committee it was important that the assembly make further directives for guidance of the Geneva committee's future work.

The eight neutral nations participating at Geneva discussed the question Monday afternoon, and informed sources said it was agreed that Nov. 22 was the most likely date for resumption of negotiations.

Jordan's RAF General Asks Political Asylum

CAIRO (UPI)—Brig. Suheil Elazzawi, director general of Jordan's Royal Air Force, flew here Monday in a military aircraft and asked for political asylum, the Middle East News Agency reported.

The dispatch said Elizzawi, piloting a British-made De Havilland troop carrier, landed at Cairo International Airport.

Pro-Monarchist Radio Mecca said Monday Yemeni Monarchist forces have captured the northern fortress of Silway in a two-hour battle in which 150 Egyptians and Yemeni revolutionary troops were killed.

The broadcast, quoting a monarchist communique, said artillery and "massive waves of tribesmen" overwhelmed the fortress this weekend. It said Egyptian planes earlier dropped incendiary bombs on the Monarchists, killing 12 and wounding 20.

The station said Royalist forces were attacking Qatabh, near the Aden protectorate border, and expected to advance northward in an attempt to cut off road communications with Sanaa, the capital city.

The Middle East News Agency said nearly 10,000 Yemeni tribal warriors were preparing for a "holy war" against pro-Royalist forces.

U.S. Marines To Show Tanks At Guantanamo

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—The U.S. Marines planned Monday night to assemble a huge column of tanks for a show of force today along the fence dividing this naval base from Communist Cuba.

The disclosure came after a small group of Marines working in the shadow of a tiny American flag were stoned earlier Monday by rag-tag Cuban militiamen. The Marines ignored the flying rocks —and went right on building a new machine gun bunker.

No official word was given on how many tanks would be paraded before the Cuban militia and troops hovering on the other side of the fence in Oriente Province.

Nor was any specific reason advanced for the demonstration, set to begin at 8:30 a.m., other than to suggest to the Cubans what they would be up against if they attacked the 45-mile square base.

However, the decision to mount the armored tanks came amid reports of increasing rock throwing by Cuban militia at U.S. troops along the fence.

Wilcoxson Bond Is Set At $100,000

BALTIMORE (AP)—Federal authorities awaited detainers from New York City and Buffalo, N. Y., Monday before deciding what to do with Bobby Randell (One Eye) Wilcoxson and his girl friend, Jacqueline Rose.

The 33-year-old accused bank robber, on the FBI's 10-most-wanted list and described as a "modern-day Dillinger," was arrested with Miss Rose, 19, here during the weekend. Both were held in bail of $100,000 each in Baltimore City Jail on a bench warrant from Buffalo.

Thomas J. Jenkins, special agent in charge of the Baltimore FBI office, said Monday the next legal move in the case would be up to U. S. Atty. Joseph D. Tydings of Baltimore.

"It'll be up to him as to where he asks for him (Wilcoxson) to be removed," said Jenkins. "We have no charge against him here in Baltimore at this time."

Wilcoxson is wanted for a number of bank robberies. In one of them, in Brooklyn, N. Y., a bank guard was machine - gunned to death. Miss Rose is charged with driving the getaway car on at least one occasion.

Nixon Offered Equal Time For Reply To Sunday's Network Television Show On His Political Career

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) said Monday that if Richard M. Nixon asks for equal time to reply to a controversial network television show on his political career he will get it.

Hundreds of telephone calls and telegrams—more than 1,000 in the network's New York headquarters alone—poured into ABC affiliates throughout the country, many of them criticizing the appearance of Alger Hiss on the program. Others termed the show "worthwhile" and "timely."

The half-hour Sunday night program—titled "The Political Obituary of Richard Nixon"—was comprised of taped interviews and of comments by moderator Howard K. Smith.

"We gave both sides a fair presentation on this show," a network spokesman said.

Equal Time Okayed

James C. Hagerty, ABC vice president in charge of news who was President Eisenhower's press secretary, said that Nixon would receive equal time if he requested it.

Hagerty explained that while ABC was not directly inviting to take equal time, if the former vice president asked for it, it would be granted.

Former Rep. Jerry Voorhis, California Democrat whom Nixon defeated in 1946, said in Washington Monday that he telephoned ABC headquarters in New York Sunday and told a network official that any use of his taped remarks on Sunday night's program would be without his authority if Hiss' taped discussion of Nixon was used on the same program. The network used tapes of both Voorhis and Hiss.

Hagerty was not immediately available for comment on Voorhis' statement.

Hiss, former State Department official convicted of perjury in 1950 after a congressional investigation led by Nixon, said he believed his prosecution by Nixon, then a congressman, was politically motivated.

Also appearing on the program were Murray Chotiner, Los Angeles attorney who managed Nixon's first campaign and was an "unpaid volunteer" in the gubernatorial race this year, and Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., a longtime friend of Nixon.

In Los Angeles, Herbert Klein, press secretary of Nixon during his unsuccessful campaign to unseat Gov. Edmund G. Brown, called the program "a new low in undistinguished reporting."

"It set out to kick Richard Nixon and accomplished its goal by substituting innuendo for fact," Klein said.

"The innuendo that Mr. Nixon had at any time painted Ambassador Stevenson, former President Truman and Dean Acheson as traitors was a particularly disgraceful example of the inaccuracy and bias which marked this particular piece of television reporting."

Quotes Smith's Remark

Klein referred to a remark by Smith at the end of the show. Smith said:

"He (Nixon) applied the word traitor to President Truman and Governor Stevenson and Secretary Acheson. He was vague as to what they were traitors to . . . but the word meant the worst to the public. That kind of talk is not a part of the normal rough and tumble of politics. It not only damages good men, it damages national life."

On the program, Hiss said he had no feeling of hostility against Nixon, although he regarded the former vice president's actions against him as "motivated by ambition, by personal self-serving."

Hiss, now a New York salesman, was convicted and jailed on perjury charges in connection with his association with the late Whittaker Chambers who at one time was a Soviet spy courier. Hiss steadfastly maintained he was innocent of the charges.

Ecumenical Council Urges Common Date To Observe Easter

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Ecumenical Council delegates proposed talks Monday with non-Catholic Christian churches to adopt a common date for Easter.

It was the council's first proposal of negotiations with other faiths on a religious subject of joint interest. Christian unity was an announced goal of Pope John XXIII in calling the historic conclave.

Both Catholics and Protestants now observe Easter on the first Sunday after the first full moon of spring. The date varies from year to year between March 22 and April 25.

Eastern Orthodox churches, however, celebrate Easter on dates which do not coincide among their own faiths or with the western churches. All the eastern churches maintain that Easter must follow the Jewish Passover. In addition, some follow obsolete calendars.

Historic Hudson River Mansion Is Destroyed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An historic mansion built on the west bank of the Hudson River in the mid-1600s was a charred ruin today, destroyed by flames.

The house, just north of Albany, was known as "The Flatts" and was the residence of the famed Schuyler family.

Gen. Philip Schuyler, the Revolutionary War leader, lived there shortly after his marriage.

The brick-and-frame building, on land that had been sold as a site for a shopping center, had been vacant for several years.

The Albany County Historical Association had started a move to have the house preserved.

Fire Chief Edward Flynn said the fire was set, perhaps by children.

The Schuylers in their correspondence referred to their home as The Flatts and the area also was known as the Schuyler Flatts because the mansion is on a flat piece of ground by the river, according ot Francis P. Kimball, a local historian.

Kimball said "flat" was spelled with two Ts in those times.

UN Aerial Units Instructed To Fight In Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations announced today U.N. aerial units in the Congo had been instructed to "react immediately" against any Katanga Province aircraft engaged in offensive operations.

This word was given out at U.N. headquarters following a report of a bombing attack by Katanga planes on some areas of North Katanga. There still was no definite information here as to the number of casualties, but U.N. officials apparently feel precautionary measures are called for.

A U.N. announcement said U.N. "air fighter units have instructions to react immediately to Katangan aircraft engaged in offensive operations."

The announcement also said that arrangements had been made with the central Congolese government for a U.N. inquiry group including a doctor, to make an on-the-spot investigation at Kabalo.

Chen Cheng Sums Up Red Strategy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-Shek's political heir-apparent said today that, while a power struggle between the Red Chinese and the Kremlin is an "indisputable fact," the two regimes still collaborate in a program of external aggression.

Chen Cheng, vice president and premier of Nationalist China, made the observation in a 5,000-word political report to the Central Committee of the Kuomintang, ruling party of Nationalist China. The Kuomintang is beginning a four-day session.

He said the schemes of the Communist bloc led by the Soviet Union may be summed up as follows:

1. To keep Germany divided and use it as a starting point for moving into the Atlantic.

2. To control China and use it as a base for aggression against other Asian nations.

3. To extend into Cuba in order to create unrest in the Americas.

4. To neutralize Japan so as to have a freer hand in the central Pacific.

Walker Completes Psychiatric Exam

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The court-ordered psychiatric examination of Edwin A. Walker, former major general, has ended but may be resumed, a Parkland Hospital spokesman says.

Walker received a weekend pass to observe his 53rd birthday Saturday. The hospital subsequently announced his discharge by Dr. R. L. Stubblefield.

Walker was charged with insurrection and seditious conspiracy after integration riots at the University of Mississippi. A federal judge then ordered the psychiatric tests.

Dr. Stubblefield, head of the psychiatry department at the Southwestern Medical School, said in a statement released by the hospital additional conferences maybe arranged by consultation between Dr. Stubblefield and his attorney, and attorney for Walker.

There are about eight million inhabitants of the Australian continent.

Pakistan Concerned Over Arms To India

LONDON (AP) — Pakistan exhibited growing concern Monday about the flow of American and British weapons to India.

The arms were provided specifically to enable the Indian army to throw back Chinese Communist invaders. But the very presence of the weapons in India is posing a new diplomatic problem for London and Washington, diplomatic sources say.

The Pakistanti high commissioner's office in London disclosed that President Mohammed Ayub Khan has sent a letter to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

all possible aid and relief. He said 95 per cent of the island's civilian community was useless or destroyed.

He reported the island's high school and junior high destroyed, the main hospital, Public Works Department and utility agencies extensively damaged.

The Navy's Pearl Harbor Pacific Fleet headquarters said a three-day warning had enabled the island's 30,000 military personnel and dependents and 40,000 natives and civilians to dig in, thus saving countless lives.

The residents took refuge in storm shelters and supposedly typhoon-proof government buildings.

The one fatality was reported to be a native, not identified.

Steady Stream Of Injured

The Navy said, "Military and civilian hospital facilities are handling a steady stream of injured."

The island was cleared of Strategic Air Command planes as the storm neared.

The FAA planes sent to Wake carried C rations and communications specialists.

The military air transport service sent a surveillance plane toward the island, but no report of its findings was available.

President Kennedy proclaimed the island a disaster area and ordered government inspectors to survey damage.

Martha Raye Flees From Hotel Fire

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Fire broke out on the second floor of the Riverside Hotel early Monday, forcing about 200 guests including comedienne Martha Raye to flee from the building with help of police and firemen.

Guests clad in bathrobes and pajamas were taken to the nearby Washoe County Courthouse and sheriff's office until firemen doused the blaze shortly after 5 a.m.

No injuries were reported. Fire Chief Wagner Sorensen said "It could have been a very bad fire, but as it turned out it wasn't so much . . . thank God it wasn't another Golden." He referred to the Golden Hotel fire that killed six persons last April.

The blaze started in a janitor's alcove. A hotel spokesman said a guest on the second floor of the seven-story structure was the first to notice the smoke and notify the front desk.

Hotel Manager George Countis estimated damage at "under 10,000," and said it was confined to the alcove and an adjoining room.

In his public exchange with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Kennedy agreed to lift the U.S. blockade around Cuba and pledge not to invade the island in return for Khrushchev's removal of offensive weapons from Cuba under U.N. supervision. Khrushchev also was to halt further introduction of such weapons into Cuba.

Kennedy has made plain the United States includes the Soviet bombers as offensive weapons to be removed under the deal, but the Russians have been foot-dragging on this. The Havana regime under Fidel Castro has protested their removal.

Blockade To Remain

U.S. authorities expressed belief the Russians might try to use the continued presence of the bombers in Cuba as a bargaining levin the negotiations now under way. The United States, in turn, was expected to continue its blockade until the bombers are taken out.

Removal of the bombers would still leave unfulfilled the U.N. verification of the weapons withdrawal promised by Khrushchev. Castro has stood fast against any U.N. inspection inside Cuba.

And while U.S. spokesmen have described inspection inside Cuba as a necessity to make sure no offensive Soviet weapons remain there, neither the Khrushchev nor the Kennedy public texts specifies there shall be on-site inspections.

Continue Surveillance

Washington authorities have made plain that they expect to continue aerial surveillance of the island as long as they feel it necessary to safeguard against reestablishment of the offensive weapons there.

The United States and the Soviet Union were said to have reached tentative agreement for International Red Cross inspection of ships heading toward Cuba to make sure the offensive weapons are not being returned to the island. However, the Russians were reported seeking a shorter duration for the Red Cross inspections than the Americans want.

Farmers Get Better Price For Milk

BALTIMORE (AP) — Farmers producing milk for dairies regulated by the Upper Chesapeake Bay milk marketing order will receive this month a minimum $4.90 per hundredweight of milk having 3 per cent butterfat content.

E. Hickman Greene, administrator of the Chesapeake Bay marketing order, said the November minimum price is 24 cents higher than that for last month and 7 cents lower than the price for November 1961.

Greene said the receipts of 22 handlers, and the use they made of the milk they received last month, were used to compute the November minimum price for farmers.

A total of 2,167 farmers produced a daily average of 865 pounds of milk in October, Greene said.

$25,000 Ransom Paid For Stolen Sculptors

WUERZBURG, Germany (UPI) —Three stolen masterworks by medieval sculptors were ransomed Monday for $25,000, police said.

The works were stolen last August from the Pilgrim's Chapel in Volach near here and were the object of an intensive search by Bavarian and German authorities.

They include "Mary in the Rosary," by Tilman Riemenschneider, a "Pieta" by an old master and "St. Anna," from the Riemenschneider school. Authorities said the "Mary" sculpture was badly damaged, while the other two works were returned in perfect condition.

The weekly illustrated newspaper Stern offered the ransom money and asserted that no questions would be asked if the works were returned.

Rep. Long Urges More Jobs In Md.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Clarence D. Long, who was elected to Congress from Maryland's 2nd District last week, has asked President Kennedy to take steps to provide jobs in labor surplus areas such as Baltimore County.

Dr. Long, a Johns Hopkins University economist, proposed in a telegram to the President that Kennedy appoint a national employment coordinator who "would launch a task-force investigation. . and recommend effective measures to provide jobs, specifically methods of awarding defense contracts and allocating both prime contracts and sub-contracts by regions."

"National defense expenditures are at record peace-time levels," Dr. Long said, "yet operations in this area are suffering more and more."

Prompting the telegram, Dr. Long said, was a new round of layoffs at the Martin Co.'s Middle River plant. He told President Kennedy there was a need for a general review of the system of awarding government contracts "to make sure that employment needs are given some consideration."

Jacob France Dies In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jacob France, a prominent Baltimore lawyer and banker active in state Republican politics, died Monday after a brief illness. He was 80.

In 1913, France and several other businessmen founded the Equitable Trust Co. He served as board chairman of the company for many years.

Besides his association with Equitable, France was a director of the Savings Bank of Baltimore, the Maryland Title Guarantee Co. and the Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co.

He is survived by his widow, Anita France.

Four Negroes Elected To Assembly From Baltimore's Fourth District

BALTIMORE (AP) — For the first time in Maryland history, a delegation with a majority of Negroes will go to the General Assembly in Annapolis next January.

The delegation will represent Baltimore's 4th Legislative District, which elected a Negro state senator, three Negro delegates and three white delegates last Tuesday.

The Negro members are state Sen.-elect Verda F. Welcome and Dels.-elect Irma G. Dixon, Ernest D. Young and Clarence M. Michell III, all Democrats.

The white members are Dels.-elect Murray Abramson, Harvey A. Epstein and Joseph Abramson. They also are Democrats.

"My one desire is that we work together as a whole delegation," said Mrs. Welcome Monday. This desire may not be realized, but not because of racial friction.

The delegation is split on political allegiance — four members aligned with Democratic leader James H. (Jack) Pollack and three with Mrs. Welcome's faction.

The Pollack faction includes Dixon, Young, Joseph Abramson and Epstein.

Mitchell, who belongs to the Welcome group, is the son of an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell.

Britain Plans Underground Nuclear Test

LONDON (UPI) — Britain announced Monday it would carry out an underground nuclear test in Nevada in the near future. The announcement brought Labor Party protests, new criticism by Moscow and a spirited defense by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Britain, which used the Nevada underground testing site last March, emphasized the new test is not the beginning of a series. The official Soviet news agency Tass reacted quickly: It said it was a deliberate evasion of moves to write a test ban.

Macmillan said the decision to carry out the test soon was regrettable but necessary "in the interests of our security and that of the free world." He urged the Soviet Union to sign a test ban treaty because "the present situation in the world places upon mankind an intolerable burden."

"Deeply as we regretted it," he said, "the U.S. government and our own felt that we could not, in the interests of our security and that of the free world, maintain our self-denying ordinance any longer.

"It was a great blow to me, but it was necessary. And in recent weeks two serious crises have arisen, one in the Western hemisphere and the other in Asia."

MRS. GOLDMAN FINDS PHONE SAVES 21 HOURS OF TIME AND TRAVEL IN TWO WEEKS

Mrs. Daniel Goldman, of Baltimore, recently completed a two-week "diary" of her family's telephone calls. For each call she also estimated the amount of time, travel and money that was saved by telephoning. At the end of two weeks, the Goldmans' telephone diary showed savings of 21 valuable hours, 293 miles of travel and $22.38.

Mrs. Goldman, who is the mother of four young children (all under ten years) and is active in charitable and community affairs, finds her telephone invaluable. She says, "I don't think our family could accomplish two-thirds of the things we do without the telephone."

What would a telephone diary show in your home? You'd probably find, too, that your phone does far more for you ... than the little it costs.

Britain Plans Underground Nuclear Test

LONDON (UPI) — Britain announced Monday it would carry out an underground nuclear test in Nevada in the near future. The announcement brought Labor Party protests, new criticism by Moscow and a spirited defense by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Britain, which used the Nevada underground testing site last March, emphasized the new test is not the beginning of a series. The official Soviet news agency Tass reacted quickly: It said it was a deliberate evasion of moves to write a test ban.

Macmillan said the decision to carry out the test soon was regrettable but necessary "in the interests of our security and that of the free world." He urged the Soviet Union to sign a test ban treaty because "the present situation in the world places upon mankind an intolerable burden."

"Deeply as we regretted it," he said, "the U.S. government and our own felt that we could not, in the interests of our security and that of the free world, maintain our self-denying ordinance any longer.

"It was a great blow to me, but it was necessary. And in recent weeks two serious crises have arisen, one in the Western hemisphere and the other in Asia."

He was a member of the Bethesda Church of the Brethren.

The body is at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, where services will be conducted Wednesday with Rev. Saylor Wampler officiating. Burial will be in the New Germany Cemetery.

MRS. GOLDMAN FINDS PHONE SAVES 21 HOURS OF TIME AND TRAVEL IN TWO WEEKS

Mrs. Daniel Goldman, of Baltimore, recently completed a two-week "diary" of her family's telephone calls. For each call she also estimated the amount of time, travel and money that was saved by telephoning. At the end of two weeks, the Goldmans' telephone diary showed savings of 21 valuable hours, 293 miles of travel and $22.38.

Mrs. Goldman, who is the mother of four young children (all under ten years) and is active in charitable and community affairs, finds her telephone invaluable. She says, "I don't think our family could accomplish two-thirds of the things we do without the telephone."

What would a telephone diary show in your home? You'd probably find, too, that your phone does far more for you ... than the little it costs.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I married my husband three years ago he said he'd break the news to his mother "in his own way." I agreed—which was a horrible mistake.

We now have two children, and he is still living at home with his mother. I've never met her and he hasn't told her we're married. Now I'm beginning to think he never will. Half of his paycheck goes to his mother and I am having a miserable struggle making ends meet. The children aren't growing up in a normal home because their father comes and goes like a visitor.

Last night the baby was sick and I was exhausted after walking the floor for hours. I telephoned my husband. His mother bawled me out because I woke him up. (It was 9:30 p. m.) His only comment was, "I've got a headache. I'll see you tomorrow."

Should I just take the kids over to my mother-in-law's house and introduce myself? I am sick of being a— HIDDEN WIFE

DEAR HIDDEN WIFE: Your husband is so inextricably tangled up in his mother's apron strings that it will require years of therapy to unwind him.

This situation calls for immediate action and I recommend it. Tell your husband if he doesn't break the news to mother by next Sunday you will. Then do it. You have nothing to lose.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son is 17 years old and a junior in high school. He was never a very good student but always managed to get by.

Last night he told us he wants to quit school and go to work. His buddy has a job on the night shift at a rubber plant and is making $88 a week plus overtime. His budy says he can get him on the same shift.

My husband and I keep telling him if he quits school he'll regret it. He claims school bores him and he might as well stop wasting his time. Christmas is coming and he needs extra money and he knows we can't give him much.

You must hear from other parents who have this problem. Please give us a hand. We need it. MAMA AND PAPA

DEAR MAMA AND PAPA: I hope you are able to get your son to see past that $88 a week. It may look mighty tempting now, especially compared to homework, but it may sentence him to a limited pay check for the rest of his days.

Automation is becoming more and more important in industry. Employers need trained personnel to operate the machinery. A high school drop-out with no special training is an unskilled worker. If he gets laid off at the rubber factory (before or after automation) he may have a tough time getting another job — anyplace. Some factories require a diploma for floor-sweeping.

The smart teenager looks at the Big Picture, not the $88 this week. Education is his best insurance policy for a promising future.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I remember reading a letter in your column about the man who left his wife standing around at parties while he shook hands with everyone. He didn't introduce her to a soul. I have a similar problem in reverse.

I'm a 16-year-old boy. My sister Jane is 20. After church services a nice-looking guy came over and introduced himself to me. My sister was standing there so I said, "I'd like to have you meet my sister, Jane."

On the way home my sister really blew her stack. She ordered me to keep my mouth shut from now on. Her words were, "I don't need any help from my kid brother."

She brought the subject up at the dinner table and my mother side with her. What do you say? TWO AGAINST ONE

DEAR FRIEND: The odds are now even—I'm with you. Your sister may have been self-conscious, being introduced by her kid brother, but you did the proper thing. (P. S. Five will get you ten the guy came over to meet her not you.)

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

To Protect Your Beauty, Practice Cleanliness

It's difficult to understand why so many girls who wouldn't think of using an unwashed drinking glass will use beauty gadgets over and over, ignoring their lack of cleanliness entirely.

That such articles are personal is no excuse. A grimy puff can spread a minor skin infection to major proportions. A dusty hairbrush can irritate a scalp dermatitis to such extent that it may spread to your face.

Unless you keep your applicators pristine, you're falling into dangerous ways. To minimize any threat to your beauty, always:

Wash your hairbrushes and combs (including side combs) before they need it. Let them soak for about ten minutes in synthetic-detergent suds; then rinse thoroughly under hot, running water. Next, fill the basin with warm water, add a few drops of cologne, and whisk your paraphernalia through it. Wipe or shake off the excess water and place in the sun to dry. What a pleasure they'll be to use!

Give your eyebrow, complexion, and body brushes the benefit of regular soakings and sunnings. Rinse out your mascara brush after using and store it in a small container filled with fresh tap water.

A tooth brush should be rinsed in hot water after each using and hung to dry. Tooth brushes last longer and give better results if you have at least three to use in rotation.

And what of your lipstick brush? Wipe it clean after each using and leave it exposed to air.

Never use a brush in a beauty shop unless it has been sterilized. To prevent infection of various kinds, dip orange sticks, nippers, cuticle scissors, and eyebrow tweezers in alcohol before and after using.

Face Trial

WIESBADEN, Germany (UPI) —A German restaurant manager and a waitress will go on trial next month on charges of refusing to serve five Negroes, it was learned yesterday. The manager, Hans Pfalzgraf, said during a hearing he thought they were American soldiers. He later learned they were African policemen attending a police school here, after which he apologized and served them a free dinner.

To Buy Shoe Chain

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — U.S. Shoe Corp. announced it has reached an agreement in principle to acquire William Hahn & Co. through an exchange of an undisclosed amount of stock. William Hahn & Co. owns and operates 16 family shoe stores in the Baltimore-Washington area.

Local Groups Observe Veterans' Day

Cumberland veterans's groups, marking the dual observance of Veterans' Day and the 100th anniversary of the authorization of the Medal of Honor, yesterday held brief ceremonies in the Post Office Plaza and heard Col. Randolph Millholland express appreciation for great achievements of the past and "redicate ourselves, renewing our strength to meet successfully the hazards and requirements which lie before us.

Before representatives of veterans' groups and women's auxiliaries including Gold Star Mothers, Col. Millholland said one out of every eight Americans is a veteran of wartime military service and he represents the cross section of the nation. The patriotic power of the veteran, he added, is more meaningful than ever in today's struggle against Communism.

"The strengthening of America to meet this threat has led to the emergence of another kind of veteran," Col. Millholland said. "Although these may have not fought in a formal war, they are in a real sense veterans. They are the veterans of the struggle between the Free and Communist worlds which is called the Cold War.

"They are living symbols of our readiness — symbols that our Allies and enemies can both see — a visible and effective deterrent to aggression," Col. Millholland, retired regimental commander of the National Guard here, said.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon Sr., served as master of ceremonies for the program arranged by R. Donald Shaffer of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion's special events committee.

Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill represented the City of Cumberland; John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, represented Allegany County; James G. MacFarlane, commander of Post 13; and J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Board of Education, spoke briefly.

Local Groups Observe Veterans' Day

Cumberland veterans's groups, marking the dual observance of Veterans' Day and the 100th anniversary of the authorization of the Medal of Honor, yesterday held brief ceremonies in the Post Office Plaza and heard Col. Randolph Millholland express appreciation for great achievements of the past and "redicate ourselves, renewing our strength to meet successfully the hazards and requirements which lie before us.

Before representatives of veterans' groups and women's auxiliaries including Gold Star Mothers, Col. Millholland said one out of every eight Americans is a veteran of wartime military service and he represents the cross section of the nation. The patriotic power of the veteran, he added, is more meaningful than ever in today's struggle against Communism.

"The strengthening of America to meet this threat has led to the emergence of another kind of veteran," Col. Millholland said. "Although these may have not fought in a formal war, they are in a real sense veterans. They are the veterans of the struggle between the Free and Communist worlds which is called the Cold War.

"They are living symbols of our readiness — symbols that our Allies and enemies can both see — a visible and effective deterrent to aggression," Col. Millholland, retired regimental commander of the National Guard here, said.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon Sr., served as master of ceremonies for the program arranged by R. Donald Shaffer of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion's special events committee.

Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill represented the City of Cumberland; John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, represented Allegany County; James G. MacFarlane, commander of Post 13; and J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Board of Education, spoke briefly.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New laxative acts on colonic muscles...de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body.

But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition.

The most effective relief, many doctors say, comes from a bulking action combined with a colonic nerve stimulating action. Of all leading laxatives only a new tablet called COLONAID gives you this special combination for 3-way overnight relief:

(1) COLONAID stimulates colonic nerve network, to further activate and regularize its muscular "movement". (2) COLONAID's unique re-bulking action helps re-tone tense colon muscles. (3) COLONAID moisturizes for easy passage without pain or strain.

COLONAID even relieves chronic constipation overnight; yet it is clinically-proved gentle even for expectant mothers. Get COLONAID today. INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢.

Elks' Charity Event Proves Big Success; Draws Large Crowd

Officials of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children and Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks yesterday expressed appreciation for the support given to the Charity Ball which drew a capacity crowd to the Elks Home, South Centre Street, Saturday night.

While complete reports have not been compiled, League and Elks' officials estimated yesterday that at least $4,500 will be realized for the benefit of the League.

The Elks annually sponsor an event of this kind for the League. The Charity Ball was the first such undertaking in many years. In recent years, Broadway stage shows and minstrels have been presented.

Engineers report that the world's largest air conditioning system, in Rockefeller Center, has cooling capacity equal to the melting of 25,619 tons of ice daily.

Heart Group To Attend Meeting

Ten representatives from the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association will assemble for the 15th annual meeting of the Heart Association of Maryland at the Hotel Southern in Baltimore tomorrow.

Attending from Cumberland will be Dr. G. Overton Himmelwright, president, Mrs. William H. Macy, Mrs. John G. Clower, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Bishop, James W. Webster Jr., Charles E. Bramble, John Cobun, Andrew Sisk and Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary.

Featured speakers at the all-day sessions will be William Dock, M.D., Professor of Medicine at the State University of New York; Leonard Scherlis, M.D. of the University of Maryland School of Medicine; and Benjamin M. Baker, M.D., who will report on diet studies being carried out at Johns Hopkins School of medicine.

Edward Davens, M.D., deputy state commissioner of health and president of the state Heart Association will preside.

Training School For Machinists Slated Again

The Allegany County Board of Education has received approval from the United States Office of Education to conduct a second machine tool operation training program under the Area Redevelopment Act.

Tentative plans are to start the course on November 26 at the Allegany Training School. Purpose of the course is to provide retraining for unemployed persons who need new skills in order to find gainful employment.

A similar course was conducted during the first six months of this year, when 25 trainees were chosen for the course. Twenty men completed the course, and 19 are currently employed in the field for which they were trained.

Industries employing them are National Jet, Allegany Instrument Company, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Celanese, West Virginia Pulp and Paper, and the Mack Truck Company of Hagerstown. Favorable reports have been received from these companies concerning their satisfaction with the graduates of the original course.

Instructors and training facilities will be provided by the local Board of Education. The local offices of the Maryland State Employment Service, in co-operation with the vocational education officials, will do the actual testing and selecting of trainees for the course.

According to Francis Kenney, manager of the Employment Service, selection will be based on worker and skill needs indicated by prospective employers, and on the aptitude test scores and the work history of the prospective trainees.

The objective of the course will be to provide training for jobs as machine tool operators; training for job opportunities such as machinist helper; training for jobs as apprentice machinist; training for jobs which require specialized and repetitive operations by a machinist; a refresher course for persons who have had some training or work experience in a machine shop.

The hours of the course will be from 3:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., five days per week for 16 weeks. Trainees will learn how to operate engine lathes, shapers, milling machines, cylindrical grinders, surface grinders, metal band saws, drill presses, filing machines, heat treating furnaces, use of precision tools. In addition trainees will receive related instruction in shop mathematics, blueprint reading, technical sketching and shop theory.

The proposal for retraining in Cumberland was submitted to Secretary Goldberg by Stephen C. Cromwell, Director of Maryland Department of Employment Security; Kenney, J. D. Lonnholm, director, vocational education, Allegany County Board of Education, and John E. Geare, president, Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company, as a part of the overall plans approved by the Department of Economic Development.

Men interested in becoming applicants for the course should sign up at he local office of the Maryland Department of Employment Security.

Jaycees To Sponsor 'Ole Opry' Show

The Junior Association of Commerce will sponsor a large unit from the Grand Ole Opry for a local appearance next week, according to John D. May, president.

The troupe will present two performances on Tuesday, November 20, at the Fort Hill High School auditorium. Shows will be presented at 7 and 9:30 p. m.

Alan Douglas has been named general chairman of the project. Assisting with arrangements are Gaylord Brooks, program; John Workmeister, tickets; Frederick J. Hill, publicity; Howard Brode, house, and Roy Hartzell, solicitation.

Douglas said tickets are available from any member of the Jaycees, at the office headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce, and at the H-P Store in the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center.

Headlining the cast who will appear here will be Stonewall Jackson, popular recording star who has been with Grand Ole Opry since 1956. His recording of "Waterloo" has sold a million copies.

Also performing will be the popular Hawkshaw Hawkins, who offers a fun and music routine that gained him fame with young and old alike. Another top star will be Jimmy Newman, singing star whose every performance includes the presentation of "Jole Blon" in French. Trade magazines claim 75 percent of Newman's recordings have been listed high on popularity polls.

The program also will include Red Sovine, an eight-year veteran with the Grand Ole Opry cast; Rex Rinehart, whose recordings are also high in the ratings, and Delores Smiley and the popular "Syrup-Soppers."

Douglas said proceeds from the project will be used for the organization's varied civic and charitable undertakings.

Broker vs. tipster

"I've got a hot tip—a chance for a quick killing!" That's the tipster speaking—a strange voice on the phone, or perhaps even a friend, or a broker who doesn't deserve the name.

If you're thinking of investing in stocks and bonds, consider the important differences between the tipster and a reputable broker.

Tipster: "I've got a sure thing for you. It can't miss."

Broker: "No investment is without risk. When someone says he has a sure thing, he means a stock whose price can only go up. There is no such thing. The price of stock fluctuates—now down, now up—like the price of almost any property. But over the years, the value of a prosperous, expanding company has a good chance of rising. Its dividends may also increase."

Tipster: "Buy now—before the price goes up."

Broker: "Never act hastily. First, take time to check the facts. What have the company's earnings been over the years? What is its dividend record? Have sales been going down, holding steady or moving upward? A broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange can help you get such information. And he will be happy to give you his opinion about the company's prospects."

Tipster: "Who wants to wait years for a stock to pay off?"

Broker: "Set your goals carefully to fit your circumstances. Your goal may be extra income through dividends. Or you may place more emphasis on growth in the value of the stock over the years. Or you might want to consider bonds which usually offer a more stable income with less risk to your principal."

Tipster: "Scrape up all the money you can and bet the bundle."

Broker: "Living expenses have first call on your income. And provision should be made for emergencies. Then you might consider investing.

"One convenient method for investing on a budget is the Monthly Investment Plan which Member Firms offer. You can invest systematically with as little as $40 every three months."

If you've decided to own your share of American business by investing, choose your broker with care. Not all brokers are alike. In Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange, for example, Registered Representatives have had to measure up to Exchange standards for knowledge of their business—by experience or written test. Their judgment may not always be right, of course, but they can help you evaluate information and start you off on a sound footing.

Broker vs. tipster

"I've got a hot tip—a chance for a quick killing!" That's the tipster speaking—a strange voice on the phone, or perhaps even a friend, or a broker who doesn't deserve the name.

If you're thinking of investing in stocks and bonds, consider the important differences between the tipster and a reputable broker.

Tipster: "I've got a sure thing for you. It can't miss."

Broker: "No investment is without risk. When someone says he has a sure thing, he means a stock whose price can only go up. There is no such thing. The price of stock fluctuates—now down, now up—like the price of almost any property. But over the years, the value of a prosperous, expanding company has a good chance of rising. Its dividends may also increase."

Tipster: "Buy now—before the price goes up."

Broker: "Never act hastily. First, take time to check the facts. What have the company's earnings been over the years? What is its dividend record? Have sales been going down, holding steady or moving upward? A broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange can help you get such information. And he will be happy to give you his opinion about the company's prospects."

Tipster: "Who wants to wait years for a stock to pay off?"

Broker: "Set your goals carefully to fit your circumstances. Your goal may be extra income through dividends. Or you may place more emphasis on growth in the value of the stock over the years. Or you might want to consider bonds which usually offer a more stable income with less risk to your principal."

Tipster: "Scrape up all the money you can and bet the bundle."

Broker: "Living expenses have first call on your income. And provision should be made for emergencies. Then you might consider investing.

"One convenient method for investing on a budget is the Monthly Investment Plan which Member Firms offer. You can invest systematically with as little as $40 every three months."

If you've decided to own your share of American business by investing, choose your broker with care. Not all brokers are alike. In Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange, for example, Registered Representatives have had to measure up to Exchange standards for knowledge of their business—by experience or written test. Their judgment may not always be right, of course, but they can help you evaluate information and start you off on a sound footing.

Senator Beall Moves Up On Committees

Others Also Get Better Ranking

WASHINGTON (AP)—The committee rank of some Maryland congressman improved as a result of last Tuesday's election.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall, who was not up for re-election, climbs from fifth to third rank among Republicans on the Senate Armed Services Committee.

He moved from fourth to the second minority party spot on the Banking and Currency Committee, and remains the No. 1 Republican on the District of Columbia Committee.

Because of the time - honored seniority system, Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, Democrat, moves from third to second spot on the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee. He replaces Rep. Frank W. Boykin, D-Ala., who failed to win renomination in the Democratic primary.

Garmatz's No. 8 position on the Government Operations Committee will not change in the 88th Congress.

Rep. George H. Fallon retains his second ranking on the House Public Works Committee, and Rep. Richard E. Lankford will remain No. 11 on the House Armed Services Committee. Both are Democrats.

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., Republican, moves up from ninth to seventh ranking minority member of the District of Columbia Committee. He also moves up a notch on the Judiciary Committee, where he was 12th ranking minority member in the 87th Congress.

Rep. Samuel N. Friedel, Democrat, keeps his second ranking position on the House Administration Committee, and climbs from eighth to sixth on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Four new members of Congress will be starting at the bottom along with other freshmen next January. They are Senator-elect Daniel B. Brewster, Democrat, amd three representatives-elect, Democrats Clarence D. Long and Carlton R. Sickles, and Republican Rogers Morton.

UPIDC Board To Meet

The Board of Directors of the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company will meet today at 4 p.m. in the conference room of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. John E. Geare, president, will preside.

Over 900 Students

themselves if they are not what they should be.

Jack A. Petry, county supervisor of high schools, who was chairman of the committee which planned the Career Day, introduced the approximately 70 consultants who donated their time and talent to advise young people on careers. They included representatives of about 40 different fields, five major industries of the area, some 15 institutions of higher learning and all branches of the armed forces.

Use All Facilities

Each consultant was assigned to a different room so that virtually all facilities at Allegany were put to use including the library and gymnasium.

One of the consultants assigned a ground floor room just a short distance from the auditorium was Dr. William T. Fridinger, president of the State Dental Association, who discussed careers in dentistry and related fields. He spoke to three different groups interested in dentistry in separate 25-minute sessions.

In his first group of six were two girls. The six represented Allegany, Fort Hill, Bruce and Valley high schools.

Dr. Fridinger told the high school students that there are between 95,000 and 100,000 dentists in the United States today and about 91,000 of them are in active full-time practice. The rest are retired, semi-retired or engaged in research.

A good many dentists are specialists. There are 2,100 orthodonists, whose job is the straightening of teeth. Another 1,100 are engaged in oral or dental surgery. Some 750 others are involved in one of five other specialties including those who work on gum disorders, those who make false teeth, those concerned with the nerves in teeth, specialists in children's dentistry and those who make crowns and bridges.

In addition to dentists there are about 70,000 dental assistants, 10,000 dental hygienists, 23,000 dental technicians and 10,000 secretaries and receptionists.

There are 47 dental schools in the United States and they graduate between 3,000 and 4,000 dentists each year. By 1975, the American Dental Association hopes they will graduate between 8,000 and 10,000 dentists every year.

Before entering dental school, the student must have at least two years of pre-dental college study in a liberal arts college. Dr. Fridinger said that it is recommended that prospective dentists obtain their bachelor's degree before embarking on the four-year program in dentistry.

Although the cost of a dental education is large the rewards are considered considerable. Dr. Fridinger estimated that college education of a dentist will cost between $18,000 and $20,000 including about $12,000 for the four years in dental school.

National figures indicate that the average annual gross income of a dentist is about $26,000 and his net income is about $14,000. The average dentist sees about 1,200 patients a year. Only about 47 per cent of the people in America visit a dentist annually.

Dr. Fridinger distributed five or six pamphlets to each of the students in his session. One entitled "The Challenge of Dentistry" explains that a student does not have to make straight A's to get into dental school but must be willing to work hard and be able to carry the work load.

ARE YOU MAKING THE ANTI-ACID MISTAKE?

Important News for Every

INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, INTESTINAL GAS SUFFERER!

Now, for the first time you can apply the brakes to stomach distress before the trouble begins. Up to now, anti-acids have been used mostly to relieve stomach upset after suffering the pangs of distress. Now, thanks to a new, natural formulation called MIAZYME you may eliminate the discomforts of indigestion, heartburn and intestinal gas caused by poor digestion of foods.

If you properly digest the food you eat, chances are you will not suffer stomach distress. This is because of the action of enzymes, manufactured in the digestive process. When these enzymes fall below par—as age increases, enzymatic action may become inadequate, or, as medical science knows, today's fast, hectic living pace can create distress caused by stomach tensions—you are apt to suffer indigestion, gas, bloating, heartburn, cramps and other uncomfortable forms of stomach upset.

Why risk making the anti-acid mistake? Just two MIAZYME capsules a day is all it takes to help eliminate the discomforts of indigestion, heartburn, gas and open the door to new vistas in food enjoyment.

MIAZYME contains no narcotics! No habit forming drugs! No harmful side effects, taken as directed. So safe, no prescription is needed! Get MIAZYME today at your favorite drug store and break the anti-acid routine. Try it for 6 days on a NO RISK GUARANTEE. You must be completely satisfied or your money refunded. Regular size, $1.50. The Nepalese And Their Neighbors

Mountain people tend to be idiosyncratic, and the Himalaya mountain people of Nepal are about as idiosyncratic as any. Just as India's border troubles with Red China reach boiling point, the Nepal radio calmly announces that the demarcation of the border with China has been completed. All that remains to be settled is the defining of areas between the pillars and rock carvings used as border markers.

India has long been alarmed by Nepal's increasing friendliness to Red China. A brief spat between the latter two was settled in October 1961 by a boundary treaty. Some observers contend that Red China got territorial rights it didn't deserve. This King Mahendra of Nepal denies.

Mahendra in turn is angry with India for giving refuge to dissident Nepalese politicians and rebels, who demand restoration of democratic rule. The King dissolved Parliament almost two years ago. Mahendra appeared to rule out conciliation with the refugees last April when, on a visit to India, he declared: "So far as Nepal is concerned, parliamentary democracy as a form of government is completely unknown to the people and whatever its merits elsewhere has no possibility of taking immediate roots in Nepal."

Calmly being ignored these days is an Indian-Nepalese treaty of 1950 agreeing that joint military action should be taken by the two countries to meet any "foreign aggression" threatening the security of either.

Eleanor Roosevelt

It will be a different world without Eleanor Roosevelt. She was, in her heart, a humanitarian, and even when one disagreed with her about her politics, it was possible to realize what this world achieved for those elements in our population who turned to her for leadership.

Imagine a young girl, coming from what in those days was called "high society" to Rivington Street, on the lower East Side of New York, to work in a Settlement House! When, later in life, she said that she had not known that such conditions existed, it can only be said that outside of the Jewish ghetto and the Italian ghetto and Chinatown and the Five Points, few knew that such conditions could exist in New York although we had heard of the poverty in Chicago against which Jane Addams battled.

Eleanor Roosevelt thus came to know the sweat shop, the home industries of women and small children sewing buttons on pants, making paper flowers, earning a penny here and there; falling asleep at the table, falling off a bench, many children crowded into one room. What such sights did to a sensitive person who came out of a genteel home that had long known wealth and leisure and culture!

Eleanor Roosevelt then went to work with Florence Kelley of the Women's Trade Union League which was battling for equal pay for equal work, for protection to pregnant women who had to work under horrible conditions for a livelihood. These conditions do not exist anywhere today, but they did exist in my boyhood and when Eleanor Roosevelt came into this environment.

Suddenly, this shy woman from uptown discovered life at its rawest. She could have run away from it. She chose not to. She devoted herself to rectifying the faults which appeared in our society. There can be no question that Eleanor Roosevelt sometimes went too far and sometimes was used. Also, sometimes, in her writings, there was less homework than one expected, but what with Mrs. Roosevelt's travels and her many organizational activities, it was surprising that she had enough time to do any studious writing.

Although Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt were long married and had several children, it is obvious that each lived separate lives. The President became a politician, but Mrs. Roosevelt was more interested in social welfare. She started her public career as a social worker and remained a social worker.

She never returned to the genteel society whence she came but associated with the lower classes, with workers, Negroes, minorities of all kinds. Her motivation was clearly to overcome those difficulties which established classes in what should be a classless society.

What will be Eleanor Roosevelt's permanent contribution to American life? Probably her most telling contribution will be the stimulation of sensitivity among the Negroes. Her activities among Negroes, particularly when she was in the White House, stimulated the movement for desegregation. Mrs. Roosevelt was worshipped by the Negroes of the world and her loss will be particularly felt in the Negro ghettos of the Northern cities of this country.

Not an original thinker, Mrs. Roosevelt was a catalyst who brought elements together which otherwise would have been far apart from each other. Disliked by many of her own class in American society, ridiculed for many of her activities, abused for the errors of her husband and her children, she went through the world a rather lonely woman, always restlessly fighting for causes. As one said years ago, "Doesn't she ever get tired?"

Eleanor Roosevelt came from the Theodore Roosevelt side of the family. She possessed many of the qualities of Theodore who fought through life to the bitter end. Theodore's children are much of the same type — battlers for causes. Mrs. Longworth's pithy humor keeps her cheerful in her late years; she is great fun. Theodore Jr. fought everlastingly for his party. I remember Kermit and Theodore coming through China on anthropological expeditions. Archie battles away for conservative causes. There was fighting blood in that side of the Roosevelt family.

I have been one of those who was often critical of Eleanor Roosevelt, but how can one forget that here was a person who touched life on all sides and whose only purpose in life was to undo the wrongs of Rivington Street wherever they existed in this world, and for whatever people.

What Is Chinese Objective In India Venture?

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Thus far, the Chinese invasion of India has caused far less world-wide commotion than it should have done, because the Cuban crisis held the limelight at the critical moment. In a sense, this was probably by design.

The Chinese Communists most certainly did not expect the Cuban crisis to follow the course it finally took; but it seems probable that they timed their Indian operation to coincide with Nikita S. Khrushchev's scheme for a political-strategic Pearl Harbor in Cuba.

The Chinese certainly had no warning of the Cuba scheme from Khrushchev himself or from other Russian sources, but they could easily have been warned unofficially by their important Cuban contacts or perhaps by their sympathizers in the Soviet general staff. It is hard to believe, at any rate, that it was just pure chance which caused the Chinese to push off their major attack on the Indians only a fortnight or so before Khrushchev's Cuban scheme for upsetting the world nuclear balance was due to have been completed, if all had gone well.

Yet if a leak to the Chinese explains the coincidence of timing, everything else remains to be explained. The point about this Chinese venture which is so puzzling and also all-important is simply its staggering cost. Here is a government close to foundering in economic ruin, which is nonetheless mounting an operation against the Indians that would tax the resources of any government in the world except the very riches.

The cost items begin with something like 100,000 troops in the units atacking India in Ladakh and the Northeast Frontier agency, and in the back-up and occupation units in Tibet. On the roof of the world, these units are sparing nothing to gain ground; and they are supported by tanks and heavy artillery, or at least by very long-range, very heavy mortars.

The cost of supplying these troops is miniscule, however, compared to the cost of the supply line that carries the combat tonnage to the troops. The main road, from railhead in Kansu province, in northwest China, to the areas where the troops are operating, runs through 2,000 miles of cruelly difficult highland and mountain terrain, with not a pint of gasoline anywhere along the way.

In these circumstances, trucks must be used to fuel trucks, which fuel trucks, which again fuel trucks, which actually carry troop supplies. Some 9,000 vehicles, or close to one sixth of all the trucks in transport-short China, have had to be assigned to this taxing effort.

The tonnage of gasoline consumed on the road is also astronomically larger than the tonnage of combat supplies used by the troops. And in China, petroleum products are even scarcer than food. The shortage is so great, in fact, that the Soviets, who are the only major Chinese supplier of petroleum products, are able to force their dear brothers to pay twice for gasoline.

First, the Chinese pay in the normal way. And second, they pay by continuing to service their heavy debts to the Soviet Union—on which Peking would surely declare a mortatorium if Moscow did not hold the petroleum-product lever.

This great cost of the Chinese effort against India is the main factor to weigh, for a rather simple reason. The huge price the Chinese are paying is the only logical measure to use when one tries to determine the prizes the Chinese hope to win.

If you use this measuring stick, it quickly becomes clear that the Chinese aim is not to explode Nehru's hollow prestige, or to break up the Soviet-Indian mutual admiration society, or to take a few remote frontier posts. All these prizes, already gained, no doubt give Peking much pleasure. Furthermore, the Chinese have a genuine, quite urgent strategic need for the road they have boldly built through Indian territory, across part of the Himalayan state of Ladakh.

Yet a bigger Chinese objective must still be sought. It may be, as some think, that the Chinese had to attack India in order to maintain their ruthless hold in Tibet. Much to Peking's displeasure, the Tibetans' adored leader, the Dalai Lama, has found refuge in India. Within Tibet, resistance to the Chinese reportedly continues brave and strong. The best way to kill the resistance, by killing all hope, is to give a bloody nose to the Lalai Lama's Indian host.

In this phase, if the Indians do not stop them, the Chinese may be content with gaining enough strong places in the Himalayas to dominate the border states of dominate the border states of Ladakh, Sikkim, Bhutan, and Nepal. "He who holds the Himalayan passes gains India in the end," an old rule runs. Or in this phase the Chinese may be even bolder, seeking to seize the Brahmaputra valley, where they will find the oil they need so badly.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CRISIS—The Kennedy administration is taking a position of wary vigilance on developments in the Cuban missile crisis. Despite the very human urge to cheer about the rapid and extremely favorable results achieved early, there is no inclination on the part of anyone in federal authority to score it as a victory and mark the incident closed.

On the contrary, the promptness with which Soviet Premier Khrushchev acceded to U. S. demands is still a cause of head-shaking wonderment in Washington. So far, no one has uncovered any tricks in the fine print, but there are many who expect some development from Russia, perhaps outwardly entirely unrelated to Cuba or to missiles, as an attempt to recapture some of its lost prestige.

One question nags at our cold war strategists: If it was all as easy as it appears, why did not our intelligence assess this before now, and if it was so assessed why was not some similar U. S. action taken long before this?

There is no easy answer to this question, of course, but one outgrowth of the crisis will be a study to seek an answer. And the answer could well cause a basic revision in United States posture in future cold war crises.

President Kennedy said his top aides took what obviously could have been a fatal and final step in their firm stand on elimination of offensive missile bases in Cuba. It was done in full realization that the act could have triggered World War III. The ultra-seriousness of such a decision of itself testifies against repeated or loose usage.

It is unlikely that Kennedy will resort to unconfined sabre rattling at any future actions which carry real or fancied threats against U. S. security or prestige. Similarly, it is unlikely that Khrushchev will continue to yield so speedily and accommodatingly in future crises.

Public Health Service Maintains Great Secrecy On Cigarette Issue

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Every possible precaution was taken to keep the press away from the first meeting of the Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health, sometimes called "the cigarette committee."

Public Health officials would admit the 10 scientists appointed to the committee were meeting with Public Health Service Surgeon General Luther Terry and representatives of five government agencies. But that was about all they would admit.

So sensitive were they on this score that even the secretaries of HEW asked to be kept ignorant of the room number in which their bosses were meeting.

But this column can disclose that Surgeon General Terry opened the two-day session by explaining he did not want those concerned harassed before they learned the scope and nature of their responsibilities.

You are free, he told the group, to talk any time as an individual scientist to any reporter about your particular field of interest, but please do not disclose the work of this committee, because of the controversial nature of the subject matter.

There are too many economic, public, political, and other factors involved to make any premature judgment, Terry warned.

Dr. Terry implied that these factors could have devastating repercussions on the individual and that it was his hope to avoid such repercussions by covering individual findings in a "combined judgment."

How powerful these pressures might be was immediately apparent in the report prepared for the committee by the Agriculture Department concerning the extent of tobacco as a commodity in the United States.

What Tobacco Means to U.S.

Its importance to American agriculture was disclosed in the following statistics handed to the Advisory Committee for 1961:

Growers produced over 2 billion pounds for 1961 on 520,000 farms; 700,000 farm families' livelihood was dependent on tobacco.

Tobacco is the fourth ranking crop in value, including livestock.

Growers got over $1.3 billion from the sale of tobacco in 1961.

In Kentucky, tobacco cash receipts are 82 per cent of all crops; in North carolina, 70 per cent; in Tennessee, 40 per cent; South Carolina, 37 per cent; Georgia, 35 per cent; Connecticut, 38 per cent; Virginia, 24 per cent; Maryland, 23 per cent; Massachusetts, 10 per cent; West Virginia, 8 per cent; Pennsylvania, 7 per cent; Missouri, 1 per cent; Florida, 5 per cent.

The United States leads the world in the production and exportation of tobacco. It exported 630 million pounds valued at half a billion dollars in 1961, while importing 168 million pounds valued at $119 million.

Of the tobacco consumed here in 1962, estimates are that the manufacturing industry produced 539 billion cigarettes, 7.2 billion cigars and cigarillos, 116 million small cigars, 71 million pounds of smoking tobacco, nearly 65 million pounds of chewing tobacco, 33 million pounds of snuff.

In 1962, the Agriculture Department estimates that the United States will spend $7.8 billion on tobacco products of which about 3.2 billion will be received by federal, state, and local governments as excise tax revenue.

The Agriculture Department estimates that there are 70 million tobacco smokers in the United States.

These were the facts placed before the committee charged with the vitally important question of deciding whether cigarettes cause lung cancer.

Bad Blood In AFL-CIO

The point in the AFL-CIO constitution which almost brought President George Meany and Vice President Walter Reuther to blows, and may disrupt the AFL-CIO today, is a provision that when a CIO executive retires from the executive council, the CIO leaders shall have the right to select his successor.

President Meany seemed content to abide by this provision last year when L. S. Buckmaster, former head of the United Rubber Workers, a CIO union, resigned from the council.

"Go ahead and pick the man you want," he suggested to Reuther.

But, when Reuther and his CIO associates chose Ralph Helstein, president of the Packinghouse Workers, Meany hit the ceiling.

"I'll never accept Helstein," he roared. "He's too leftwing for me. If he is appointed to the council, it will be over my dead body."

"Let's not get demagogic, George," snapped Reuther. "I know Ralph Helstein better than you do. He's a fine man with an excellent record. Besides, we selected him according to our constitution. Are you trying to put yourself above the constitution?"

When Reuther accused him of going back on his word and trying to violate the constitution, Meany shouted "liar!" The two men almost came to blows.

All this took place at a closed-door session in Chicago. This week, in more closed-door sessions, Reuther and Meany are reported near the biggest break in recent labor history.

World Bank Critic

Senator Kefauver of Tennessee has written a stiff, private letter to President Kennedy protesting the appointment of George Woods as president of the World Bank.

Woods happens to be chairman of the first Boston Corporation, which was involved in the Dixon-Yates Scandal. In fact, it was Woods who first approached the Eisenhower Administration about setting up the Dixon-Yates power combine which Ike was finally forced to oppose.

Earlier, Kennedy wanted to appoint Woods as head of the Foreign Aid Program. But after Kefauver called at the White House for a private talk with Kennedy, Woods' name was withdrawn. Now the President has appointed Woods to head the World Bank, where he doesn't require Senate approval.

French Censorship

By John Crosby

PARIS

The growth of censorship in France is a postwar phenomenon that has not, I think, attracted enough attention. France has a glorious reputation for intellectual freedom that harks back to Voltaire's splendid sentence, "I disagree with every word you say, but I'll defend to the death your right to say it," which has been the battleground for free thinkers for several hundred years.

Today Voltaire might have trouble recognizing the place. The other day I saw a film which had been smuggled into Paris for a single showing and was promptly seized by the police. It was supposed to be a blazing expose of police brutality against the Algerians. Well, the cops were rough all right—as where aren't they rough?—but the film was so dull I fell asleep. I can't imagine any other government (except maybe those behind the iron curtain) confiscating that dull documentary. However, in France, criticism of the police is as rare and heretical as criticism of the FBI in the United States.

France has always been renowned as the country where you could publish anything, and you still can buy some of the dirtiest books in the whole world here on the quais, in the drugstores, and in the Lido where they're right out on the counter. Just the same, books are banned here. (And, contrary to belief, always have been. Baudelaire was prosecuted.) "Lolite," which has even won its freedom in that hotbed of puritanism, the United States, was banned here in English, though not in French (the ban has been lifted). The French government banned Jean Genet's "Our Lady of the Flowers" in English but not in French, which doesn't make much sense until you learn that the French version is the expurgated one.

"France isn't very French any more," says Maurice Girodias, owner of the Olympic Press which published "Lolita" and whose father published Henry Miller's "Tropic of Cancer" and "Tropic of Capricorn," two books that have had lots of trouble in their day.

Girodias has received three suspended sentences for publishing pornography and may yet go to jail. Pornography is still very easy to buy here, but only, Girodias says, because the French police haven't caught up with all the titles. If they knew what went on between the green covers of his Traveller's Companion series, the cops would seize it all—but they don't, although most travellers do.

Girodias also publishes Olympia, a magazine in English which is fairly gamey but far milder than the Traveller's Companion. Still Olympia has been banned in France (You can buy it, but you shouldn't be able to, and booksellers face a heavy fine.) Matter of fact, Olympia was banned for all time, including all future issues. Girodias thinks this is the first time a magazine has been called obscene before it's written.

Actually, two forces are at work in France. One is the birth of a new French puritanism, as evidenced by the chasing of the prostitutes off the street, closing of the brothels, and suppression of films and books that outrage modesty. The other is political censorship and that stems from the simple fact that France has been at war for the past 22 years and freedom of expression always suffers in wartime.

French publisher Robert Laffont told me the other day that he had never felt any pressure from censors. He pointed out that even during the Algerian war the French permitted books critical of the government to be published that would hardly be tolerated by any other wartime government.

L'Express still prints vitriolic attacks on de Gaulle and his government and gets away with it. Most of the time. One of the most flagrant examples of the interference with free speech was that of John Rich of NBC. Rich made a speech in the United States strongly critical of the de Gaulle government. As a result, the French government would not renew his accredition until after the strongest representations had been made by the Association de la Presse Anglo-Americaine de Paris. Rich has since been sent elsewhere by NBC.

Censorship and interference with political news on French radio and television is certainly almost complete, to such a degree that French newsmen struck the TV news one night in protest against tampering with a broadcast.

Undoubtedly, there is more censorship in France now than at any peacetime period in living memory. But with it all there is still, paradoxically, great freedom. Any government that will allow "Canard Enchaine" to be published can hardly be called a dictatorship. "Canard Enchaine" roasts the government mercilessly and hilariously—all the way up to President de Gaulle and gets away with it. Nobody would dare stop it.

Pros And Cons Of Eating Meals On Schedule

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Primitive man ate when he could. It was feast or famine, depending upon the availability of food and many inhabitants of the underdeveloped parts of the world follow the same pattern.

Civilized man accustomed himself to scheduled meals as a result of habit, custom, and working conditions. Our present plan of eating breakfast, lunch, and dinner will continue so long as food is available or until good reasons for changing are uncovered by nutritionists.

Numerous reports indicate that frequent small intakes of food (nibbling) are less likely to cause obesity than are one or two large meals. Similar observations have been noted concerning the prevention of coronary heart disease. Thus we might change our dietary habits if eating several times a day, and in smaller amounts, proves to have definite health advantages.

Regular meal times are natural because it takes three or four hours for the stomach to empty and another hour or two to feel the pangs of hunger. This is a man-made schedule and no one should feel different or abnormal because he prefers to omit lunch or eat a cereal for breakfast or drink only a glass of milk.

The consumption of a large dinner at night, after skimping on breakfast and lunch, has some objections. This single meal is likely to be high in calories and fat. The by-products of the latter are likely to settle in the walls of the arteries when eating is not followed by physical activity. In this respect, we might profit from the farmer who eats his big meal at noon and leaves the table to return to the field.

A laborer needs more calories than the sedentary worker. The lumberpack in the far north uses more energy to combat the cold. A certain food industry has supported research projects that tend to show better grades are obtained by students who eat a good breakfast. The assumption is that the brain functions better after receiving nourishment. On the other hand, many students have all they can do to stay awake after eating a hearty lunch, indicating that too much food as well as too little dulls the mind.

TOMORROW: Cancer of the prostate.

CAN'T REASON WITH SCHIZOS

A. B. writes: Is long term psychanalysis of any value in schizophrenia?

REPLY

A definite answer to this question cannot be given because the symptoms of schizophrenia are so variable. In the severe forms of this mental disorder, the individual is not in contact with this world and I cannot see how a discussion in the office will bring out any relevant facts.

NORMAL REACTION

F. P. writes: What is wrong with a person who needs several minutes to see clearly after coming into a dim room from the outside?

REPLY

Nothing. Some presons accommodate to the dark (or light) more quickly than others.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Latest story from Tel Aviv concerns Israeli private Avrim who tried to wheedle a three-day pass from his captain. "Don't be silly," the captain told him. "To get a three-day pass in this man's army, you've got to earn it with some spectacular exploit."

A few days later Avrim astounded everybody by capturing a brand-new Arab tank. Of course, he was rewarded with a three-day pass. Less than a month later, he captured another Arab tank and earned another pass. When he bagged a third Arab tank he became a national hero, and was promoted to captain himself.

Some time later, Private Moshe, who happened to be Avrim's first cousin, suggested, "Hey, Captain Avrim, how about one of those three-day passes for your favorite cousin?" "Earn one like I did," snapped Captain Avrim. "I couldn't," mourned Moshe. "I haven't your courage, or initiative, or flair for the spectacular."

Captain Avrim locked the door of his office, pulled down the shade, then whispered to his cousin, "Listen, Moshe. It's not as hard as you think. Take one of our own tanks out of the compound some night and drive out into the desert. Pretty soon you'll meet up with some Arab tank driver who's also looking for a three-day pass . . ."

In Burmuda, a formidable lady spent an hour pouring over the stock of a book shop near the Salt Kettle House. After rejecting numerous suggestions, she finally decide, "Oh well, I'll take this Ia Fleming paperback." The clerk gave her a startled look, and then said gently, "But, madam, this is the book you brought in with you."

The cost of supplying these troops is miniscule, however, compared to the cost of the supply line that carries the combat tonnage to the troops. The main road, from railhead in Kansu province, in northwest China, to the areas where the troops are operating, runs through 2,000 miles of cruelly difficult highland and mountain terrain, with not a pint of gasoline anywhere along the way.

In these circumstances, trucks must be used to fuel trucks, which fuel trucks, which again fuel trucks, which actually carry troop supplies. Some 9,000 vehicles, or close to one sixth of all the trucks in transport-short China, have had to be assigned to this taxing effort.

The tonnage of gasoline consumed on the road is also astronomically larger than the tonnage of combat supplies used by the troops. And in China, petroleum products are even scarcer than food. The shortage is so great, in fact, that the Soviets, who are the only major Chinese supplier of petroleum products, are able to force their dear brothers to pay twice for gasoline.

First, the Chinese pay in the normal way. And second, they pay by continuing to service their heavy debts to the Soviet Union—on which Peking would surely declare a mortatorium if Moscow did not hold the petroleum-product lever.

This great cost of the Chinese effort against India is the main factor to weigh, for a rather simple reason. The huge price the Chinese are paying is the only logical measure to use when one tries to determine the prizes the Chinese hope to win.

If you use this measuring stick, it quickly becomes clear that the Chinese aim is not to explode Nehru's hollow prestige, or to break up the Soviet-Indian mutual admiration society, or to take a few remote frontier posts. All these prizes, already gained, no doubt give Peking much pleasure. Furthermore, the Chinese have a genuine, quite urgent strategic need for the road they have boldly built through Indian territory, across part of the Himalayan state of Ladakh.

Yet a bigger Chinese objective must still be sought. It may be, as some think, that the Chinese had to attack India in order to maintain their ruthless hold in Tibet. Much to Peking's displeasure, the Tibetans' adored leader, the Dalai Lama, has found refuge in India. Within Tibet, resistance to the Chinese reportedly continues brave and strong. The best way to kill the resistance, by killing all hope, is to give a bloody nose to the Lalai Lama's Indian host.

In this phase, if the Indians do not stop them, the Chinese may be content with gaining enough strong places in the Himalayas to dominate the border states of dominate the border states of Ladakh, Sikkim, Bhutan, and Nepal. "He who holds the Himalayan passes gains India in the end," an old rule runs. Or in this phase the Chinese may be even bolder, seeking to seize the Brahmaputra valley, where they will find the oil they need so badly.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CRISIS—The Kennedy administration is taking a position of wary vigilance on developments in the Cuban missile crisis. Despite the very human urge to cheer about the rapid and extremely favorable results achieved early, there is no inclination on the part of anyone in federal authority to score it as a victory and mark the incident closed.

On the contrary, the promptness with which Soviet Premier Khrushchev acceded to U. S. demands is still a cause of head-shaking wonderment in Washington. So far, no one has uncovered any tricks in the fine print, but there are many who expect some development from Russia, perhaps outwardly entirely unrelated to Cuba or to missiles, as an attempt to recapture some of its lost prestige.

One question nags at our cold war strategists: If it was all as easy as it appears, why did not our intelligence assess this before now, and if it was so assessed why was not some similar U. S. action taken long before this?

There is no easy answer to this question, of course, but one outgrowth of the crisis will be a study to seek an answer. And the answer could well cause a basic revision in United States posture in future cold war crises.

President Kennedy said his top aides took what obviously could have been a fatal and final step in their firm stand on elimination of offensive missile bases in Cuba. It was done in full realization that the act could have triggered World War III. The ultra-seriousness of such a decision of itself testifies against repeated or loose usage.

It is unlikely that Kennedy will resort to unconfined sabre rattling at any future actions which carry real or fancied threats against U. S. security or prestige. Similarly, it is unlikely that Khrushchev will continue to yield so speedily and accommodatingly in future crises.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Latest story from Tel Aviv concerns Israeli private Avrim who tried to wheedle a three-day pass from his captain. "Don't be silly," the captain told him. "To get a three-day pass in this man's army, you've got to earn it with some spectacular exploit."

A few days later Avrim astounded everybody by capturing a brand-new Arab tank. Of course, he was rewarded with a three-day pass. Less than a month later, he captured another Arab tank and earned another pass. When he bagged a third Arab tank he became a national hero, and was promoted to captain himself.

Some time later, Private Moshe, who happened to be Avrim's first cousin, suggested, "Hey, Captain Avrim, how about one of those three-day passes for your favorite cousin?" "Earn one like I did," snapped Captain Avrim. "I couldn't," mourned Moshe. "I haven't your courage, or initiative, or flair for the spectacular."

Captain Avrim locked the door of his office, pulled down the shade, then whispered to his cousin, "Listen, Moshe. It's not as hard as you think. Take one of our own tanks out of the compound some night and drive out into the desert. Pretty soon you'll meet up with some Arab tank driver who's also looking for a three-day pass . . ."

In Burmuda, a formidable lady spent an hour pouring over the stock of a book shop near the Salt Kettle House. After rejecting numerous suggestions, she finally decide, "Oh well, I'll take this Ia Fleming paperback." The clerk gave her a startled look, and then said gently, "But, madam, this is the book you brought in with you."

Pros And Cons Of Eating Meals On Schedule

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Primitive man ate when he could. It was feast or famine, depending upon the availability of food and many inhabitants of the underdeveloped parts of the world follow the same pattern.

Civilized man accustomed himself to scheduled meals as a result of habit, custom, and working conditions. Our present plan of eating breakfast, lunch, and dinner will continue so long as food is available or until good reasons for changing are uncovered by nutritionists.

Numerous reports indicate that frequent small intakes of food (nibbling) are less likely to cause obesity than are one or two large meals. Similar observations have been noted concerning the prevention of coronary heart disease. Thus we might change our dietary habits if eating several times a day, and in smaller amounts, proves to have definite health advantages.

Regular meal times are natural because it takes three or four hours for the stomach to empty and another hour or two to feel the pangs of hunger. This is a man-made schedule and no one should feel different or abnormal because he prefers to omit lunch or eat a cereal for breakfast or drink only a glass of milk.

The consumption of a large dinner at night, after skimping on breakfast and lunch, has some objections. This single meal is likely to be high in calories and fat. The by-products of the latter are likely to settle in the walls of the arteries when eating is not followed by physical activity. In this respect, we might profit from the farmer who eats his big meal at noon and leaves the table to return to the field.

A laborer needs more calories than the sedentary worker. The lumberpack in the far north uses more energy to combat the cold. A certain food industry has supported research projects that tend to show better grades are obtained by students who eat a good breakfast. The assumption is that the brain functions better after receiving nourishment. On the other hand, many students have all they can do to stay awake after eating a hearty lunch, indicating that too much food as well as too little dulls the mind.

TOMORROW: Cancer of the prostate.

CAN'T REASON WITH SCHIZOS

A. B. writes: Is long term psychanalysis of any value in schizophrenia?

REPLY

A definite answer to this question cannot be given because the symptoms of schizophrenia are so variable. In the severe forms of this mental disorder, the individual is not in contact with this world and I cannot see how a discussion in the office will bring out any relevant facts.

NORMAL REACTION

F. P. writes: What is wrong with a person who needs several minutes to see clearly after coming into a dim room from the outside?

REPLY

Nothing. Some presons accommodate to the dark (or light) more quickly than others.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Public Health Service Maintains Great Secrecy On Cigarette Issue

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Every possible precaution was taken to keep the press away from the first meeting of the Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health, sometimes called "the cigarette committee."

Public Health officials would admit the 10 scientists appointed to the committee were meeting with Public Health Service Surgeon General Luther Terry and representatives of five government agencies. But that was about all they would admit.

So sensitive were they on this score that even the secretaries of HEW asked to be kept ignorant of the room number in which their bosses were meeting.

But this column can disclose that Surgeon General Terry opened the two-day session by explaining he did not want those concerned harassed before they learned the scope and nature of their responsibilities.

You are free, he told the group, to talk any time as an individual scientist to any reporter about your particular field of interest, but please do not disclose the work of this committee, because of the controversial nature of the subject matter.

There are too many economic, public, political, and other factors involved to make any premature judgment, Terry warned.

Dr. Terry implied that these factors could have devastating repercussions on the individual and that it was his hope to avoid such repercussions by covering individual findings in a "combined judgment."

How powerful these pressures might be was immediately apparent in the report prepared for the committee by the Agriculture Department concerning the extent of tobacco as a commodity in the United States.

What Tobacco Means to U.S.

Its importance to American agriculture was disclosed in the following statistics handed to the Advisory Committee for 1961:

Growers produced over 2 billion pounds for 1961 on 520,000 farms; 700,000 farm families' livelihood was dependent on tobacco.

Tobacco is the fourth ranking crop in value, including livestock.

Growers got over $1.3 billion from the sale of tobacco in 1961.

In Kentucky, tobacco cash receipts are 82 per cent of all crops; in North carolina, 70 per cent; in Tennessee, 40 per cent; South Carolina, 37 per cent; Georgia, 35 per cent; Connecticut, 38 per cent; Virginia, 24 per cent; Maryland, 23 per cent; Massachusetts, 10 per cent; West Virginia, 8 per cent; Pennsylvania, 7 per cent; Missouri, 1 per cent; Florida, 5 per cent.

The United States leads the world in the production and exportation of tobacco. It exported 630 million pounds valued at half a billion dollars in 1961, while importing 168 million pounds valued at $119 million.

Of the tobacco consumed here in 1962, estimates are that the manufacturing industry produced 539 billion cigarettes, 7.2 billion cigars and cigarillos, 116 million small cigars, 71 million pounds of smoking tobacco, nearly 65 million pounds of chewing tobacco, 33 million pounds of snuff.

In 1962, the Agriculture Department estimates that the United States will spend $7.8 billion on tobacco products of which about 3.2 billion will be received by federal, state, and local governments as excise tax revenue.

The Agriculture Department estimates that there are 70 million tobacco smokers in the United States.

These were the facts placed before the committee charged with the vitally important question of deciding whether cigarettes cause lung cancer.

Bad Blood In AFL-CIO

The point in the AFL-CIO constitution which almost brought President George Meany and Vice President Walter Reuther to blows, and may disrupt the AFL-CIO today, is a provision that when a CIO executive retires from the executive council, the CIO leaders shall have the right to select his successor.

President Meany seemed content to abide by this provision last year when L. S. Buckmaster, former head of the United Rubber Workers, a CIO union, resigned from the council.

"Go ahead and pick the man you want," he suggested to Reuther.

But, when Reuther and his CIO associates chose Ralph Helstein, president of the Packinghouse Workers, Meany hit the ceiling.

"I'll never accept Helstein," he roared. "He's too leftwing for me. If he is appointed to the council, it will be over my dead body."

"Let's not get demagogic, George," snapped Reuther. "I know Ralph Helstein better than you do. He's a fine man with an excellent record. Besides, we selected him according to our constitution. Are you trying to put yourself above the constitution?"

When Reuther accused him of going back on his word and trying to violate the constitution, Meany shouted "liar!" The two men almost came to blows.

All this took place at a closed-door session in Chicago. This week, in more closed-door sessions, Reuther and Meany are reported near the biggest break in recent labor history.

World Bank Critic

Senator Kefauver of Tennessee has written a stiff, private letter to President Kennedy protesting the appointment of George Woods as president of the World Bank.

Woods happens to be chairman of the first Boston Corporation, which was involved in the Dixon-Yates Scandal. In fact, it was Woods who first approached the Eisenhower Administration about setting up the Dixon-Yates power combine which Ike was finally forced to oppose.

Earlier, Kennedy wanted to appoint Woods as head of the Foreign Aid Program. But after Kefauver called at the White House for a private talk with Kennedy, Woods' name was withdrawn. Now the President has appointed Woods to head the World Bank, where he doesn't require Senate approval.

French Censorship

By John Crosby

PARIS

The growth of censorship in France is a postwar phenomenon that has not, I think, attracted enough attention. France has a glorious reputation for intellectual freedom that harks back to Voltaire's splendid sentence, "I disagree with every word you say, but I'll defend to the death your right to say it," which has been the battleground for free thinkers for several hundred years.

Today Voltaire might have trouble recognizing the place. The other day I saw a film which had been smuggled into Paris for a single showing and was promptly seized by the police. It was supposed to be a blazing expose of police brutality against the Algerians. Well, the cops were rough all right—as where aren't they rough?—but the film was so dull I fell asleep. I can't imagine any other government (except maybe those behind the iron curtain) confiscating that dull documentary. However, in France, criticism of the police is as rare and heretical as criticism of the FBI in the United States.

France has always been renowned as the country where you could publish anything, and you still can buy some of the dirtiest books in the whole world here on the quais, in the drugstores, and in the Lido where they're right out on the counter. Just the same, books are banned here. (And, contrary to belief, always have been. Baudelaire was prosecuted.) "Lolite," which has even won its freedom in that hotbed of puritanism, the United States, was banned here in English, though not in French (the ban has been lifted). The French government banned Jean Genet's "Our Lady of the Flowers" in English but not in French, which doesn't make much sense until you learn that the French version is the expurgated one.

"France isn't very French any more," says Maurice Girodias, owner of the Olympic Press which published "Lolita" and whose father published Henry Miller's "Tropic of Cancer" and "Tropic of Capricorn," two books that have had lots of trouble in their day.

Girodias has received three suspended sentences for publishing pornography and may yet go to jail. Pornography is still very easy to buy here, but only, Girodias says, because the French police haven't caught up with all the titles. If they knew what went on between the green covers of his Traveller's Companion series, the cops would seize it all—but they don't, although most travellers do.

Girodias also publishes Olympia, a magazine in English which is fairly gamey but far milder than the Traveller's Companion. Still Olympia has been banned in France (You can buy it, but you shouldn't be able to, and booksellers face a heavy fine.) Matter of fact, Olympia was banned for all time, including all future issues. Girodias thinks this is the first time a magazine has been called obscene before it's written.

Actually, two forces are at work in France. One is the birth of a new French puritanism, as evidenced by the chasing of the prostitutes off the street, closing of the brothels, and suppression of films and books that outrage modesty. The other is political censorship and that stems from the simple fact that France has been at war for the past 22 years and freedom of expression always suffers in wartime.

French publisher Robert Laffont told me the other day that he had never felt any pressure from censors. He pointed out that even during the Algerian war the French permitted books critical of the government to be published that would hardly be tolerated by any other wartime government.

L'Express still prints vitriolic attacks on de Gaulle and his government and gets away with it. Most of the time. One of the most flagrant examples of the interference with free speech was that of John Rich of NBC. Rich made a speech in the United States strongly critical of the de Gaulle government. As a result, the French government would not renew his accredition until after the strongest representations had been made by the Association de la Presse Anglo-Americaine de Paris. Rich has since been sent elsewhere by NBC.

Censorship and interference with political news on French radio and television is certainly almost complete, to such a degree that French newsmen struck the TV news one night in protest against tampering with a broadcast.

Undoubtedly, there is more censorship in France now than at any peacetime period in living memory. But with it all there is still, paradoxically, great freedom. Any government that will allow "Canard Enchaine" to be published can hardly be called a dictatorship. "Canard Enchaine" roasts the government mercilessly and hilariously—all the way up to President de Gaulle and gets away with it. Nobody would dare stop it.

Alabama's Crimson Tide Takes Over First Place In AP Grid Poll

Northwestern Is Dropped To Ninth Position

Mississippi Is 3d, Wisconsin Advances From 8th To 4th

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Crimson tide of Alabama rolled into first place in the ever-changing weekly college football rankings Tuesday with Southern California a strong second in a photo finish.

The votes of the 51 sports writers and sportscasters in The Associated Press poll were scattered among 21 colleges. The same teams were in the top ten as last week but their positions were shuffled.

Wildcats Drop To 9th

Northwestern, last week's leader, dropped all the way down to ninth place after losing to Wisconsin 37-6. The defeat of Northwestern reduced the ranks of the major college unbeaten and untied teams to four — Alabama, Southern California, Mississippi and unranked Dartmouth, the Ivy League leader. Two other majors remained unbeaten but tied once, Texas and Missouri.

The most startling shuffle among the leaders was the demotion of Northwestern and the advance of Wisconsin from eighth to fourth. Most of the other changes were only by one or two steps. Wisconsin, beaten only by Ohio State, was tied with Northwestern and Minnesota in the Big Ten race.

Alabama drew 22 of the 51 first place votes to 17 for Southern California. In points, figured on a basis of 10 for first and so on down to one for 10th, the margin was Alabama 455, Southern Cal 445.

Mississippi Is Third

Mississippi, No. 3, had three firsts and Wisconsin, No. 4, had eight firsts. The other first place vote was cast for Penn State, which was not among the leaders.

Texas placed No. 5, Missouri No. 6, Arkansas No. 7, Minnesota No. 8, Northwestern No. 9 and Louisiana State No. 10, rounding out the top ten.

Alabama disposed of rugged opposition in drubbing Miami, Fla., 36-3 and Southern California rolled over Stanford 39-14. Mississippi had no trouble thumping Chattanooga 52-7 and Wisconsin, of course, upended Northwestern.

Texas took Baylor 27-12; Missouri ran it up on Colorado 57-0; Arkansas handled Rice 28-14; Minnesota blanked Iowa 10-0 and Louisiana State eked out a 5-0 victory over Texas Christian.

All of the rated teams have two games to play, except Southern California, which still has three. The schedule does not pair any of them except for a Nov. 24 meeting of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Games This Week

Alabama faces Georgia Tech Saturday and Southern California takes on Navy. Mississippi plays Tennessee and Wisconsin has a date with Illinois, which has won only once.

The weekend schedule for the other ranked teams shows Texas at Texas Christian, Missouri at Oklahoma, Southern Methodist vs. Arkansas at Little Rock, Purdue at Minnesota, Michigan State at Northwestern and Louisiana State vs. Mississippi State at Jackson, Miss.

THE TOP TEN

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox Monday announced the signing of Charlie Metro, deposed "head coach" of the Chicago Cubs as head scout.

NCAA, AAU Fail To Make Progress At Peace Session

Feuding Groups Meet Six Hours

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The AAU and NCAA, feuding over control of amateur athletics in the United States, made "no progress" Monday after a six-hour peace meeting.

The warring factions agreed to meet again Monday night after a dinner break.

Attorney - General Robert F. Kennedy, who was scheduled to sit in as an official mediator, was held up in Washington and did not appear. He told the two groups he was ready to fly up for the night session if he was needed.

Some of the representatives said privately he would be needed to break the deadlock. Others said the AAU and NCAA could resolve their own differences.

Neither AAU nor NCAA officials would comment on the progress of the meetings. But an unofficial spokesman said they made no progress in their attempts to iron out their differences.

"The key to the whole dispute appears to be the question of open competition," the spokesman said. "The NCAA wants to have dual sanctions on open track and field meets. The AAU refuses, pointing out that it is against the rules of the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

"That's what they talked about most of the day. They're not closer together than they were at the beginning of the year."

The meeting was called by the board of directors of the United States Olympic Association. President Tug Wilson presided. He was aided by vice-president Doug Roby of Detroit and Secretary Asa Bushnell of New York.

"We have only five months to get prepared for the Pan-American Games next year," said Art Lentz, assistant executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee. "This argument is keeping us from getting a lot of our work done. That's why we are interested in settling it quickly."

The AAU and NCAA now have had eight meetings under the direction of the Olympic Association.

Ram Coach Charges Shouted Interference From Colt Players

LOS ANGELES (AP)—New Los Angeles Ram coach Harland Svare accused the Baltimore Colts Monday of shouted interference with his team's offensive signals at the Coliseum Sunday.

The Rams were penalized several times during the contest for offsides and backfield in motion. They lost 14-2.

Svare told the weekly meeting of the Southern California Football Writers Association that Baltimore defenders were shouting "set" after the Rams lined up over the ball.

"Our men were complaining," Svare added.

The Svare charges were reminiscent of the 1960 season when Bob Waterfield, then Los Angeles coach, claimed Chicago Bear linebacker Bill George was jamming Ram offensive signals by hollering "hut."

It was agreed at that time that George's efforts might not be completely cricket but they were not illegal.

ABL Will Play 30-Minute Games In Double Bills

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Basketball League, which introduced the 3-point field goal and other innovations, will experiment with doubleheader games between the same teams this season, Commissioner Abe Saperstein said Monday.

The first such doubleheader will be played Thursday in Philadelphia between the Philadelphia Tapers and Chicago Majors.

The doubleheader will be two 30-minute games, with the result of each counting in the ABL standings. Each game will be played with 15-minute halves—the two halves constituting a full game.

The conventional game of pro basketball consists of four 12-minute quarters.

In the doubleheaders, it will take five fouls instead of six to eject a player. If he gets five in the first game, he will be eligible to start the second with a clean slate.

Officials Honor Bobby Cavanaugh

Area football coaches were the guests of the Potomac Valley chapter of the West Virginia Football Officials Association at the latter organization's annual banquet yesterday at the Old Homestead Hotel in Burlington.

John J. (Bobby) Cavanaugh, long-time grid official and retired basketball coach at Fort Hill High School, was presented a leather traveling bag by James Gaffney, president of the association who emceed the affair.

A surprise guest at the dinner was Jesse Riggleman, former Ridgely High athletic coach who is now guiding the fortunes of the Shepherd College football team.

Also introduced were coaches who are handling teams for the first year, including Paul Thompson of LaSalle, and Pete Ladygo and Tom Harman, Bruce High School.

Match II., checked to keep from running up behind horses rounding the first turn, raced next to the inner rail for five furlongs, managed to save ground working between rivals thereafter, then closed resolutely through an opening inside the top pair in the stretch run and won going away. Kelso, away in front as the field broke in good order, with the exception of Porfido, was steadied along while being paced by Beau Purple from the outside, raced that rival into defeat after seven furlongs; gamely and evenly withstood a prolonged challenge from carry back on the final turn and into the stretch, and continued well after being displaced in the last 7 yards. Carry Back, reserved in the clear and within striking distance, moved strongly to the top pair along the inside approaching the mile, came outside Kelso and appeared menacing into the final three-sixteenths and weakened. Zabeg was permitted to st his own pace while far back, came out slightly for the final three-furlongs and closed well. Kistinie gave an even performance. Pardao was under light pressure to be forwardly placed on the outside after five furlongs and tired. Opponent II, was not a factor while showing speed in spots. Livan tired. Delvin was crowded back along the inside on the first turn, made a brief run around horses when in the clear and faltered. Beau Purple moved quickly to head Kelso for the pace, could not stay with that rival after seven furlongs and was not pressed while tiring. Lebon M. L. folded under pressure. Porfido broke some three lengths behind the field, showed speed for about three furlongs and dropped out of contention.

Pender Will File Suit To Regain Share Of Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Gallantz, New York attorney for Paul Pender, announced Monday night he will file suit next week against the New York State Athletic Commission to force the restoration of Pender's share of the world middleweight crown.

"I will file the suit in Supreme Court, New York County," Gallantz said, "and the case should come up about 10 days after filing."

Gallantz — who was hired by Pender of Brooklin, Mass., and Pender's Boston attorney, John J. Cronnin Jr.—agreed with Cronin that when the New York Commission stripped Pender of his title last Friday and recognized Dick Tiger of Nigeria as champion it had abused its powers.

Barefoot Harrier Leads Tarheels To ACC Championship

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — Larry Henry, who runs barefoot and never competed in a race until he got to college, Monday led the University of North Carolina to its third straight Atlantic Coast Conference cross country championship.

A second-year medical student from the tiny community of Horse Shoe, N. C., Henry headed a field of 68 runners as the Tar Heels captured the conference title going away.

Five Tar Heels were among the first 11 finishers. North Carolina had 31 points and Duke and Maryland tied for the runnerup spot with 51 (low score wins).

Henry sprinted home ahead of Duke's Louis Van Dyck by eight yards and completed the 4.1 mile distance over Finley Golf Course in a record 20:43.6. Van Dyck had beaten Henry twice previously.

Close behind that pair was John Garten of Maryland.

Giardello Wins

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lehtargic Joe Giardello pounded out a split decision Monday night over Johnny Morris in a slow 10-round fight at Baltimore's new Civic Center.

Giardello, 162, of Philadelphia, won 49-43 on the card of Judge Tom Kelly. Referee Benny Goldstein scored it 47-44, also for Giardello. Judge Jimmy Jones had it 47-46 for Morris, 161¾, of Pittsburgh.

Alabama's Crimson Tide Takes Over First Place In AP Grid Poll

Northwestern Is Dropped To Ninth Position

Mississippi Is 3d, Wisconsin Advances From 8th To 4th

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Crimson tide of Alabama rolled into first place in the ever-changing weekly college football rankings Tuesday with Southern California a strong second in a photo finish.

The votes of the 51 sports writers and sportscasters in The Associated Press poll were scattered among 21 colleges. The same teams were in the top ten as last week but their positions were shuffled.

Wildcats Drop To 9th

Northwestern, last week's leader, dropped all the way down to ninth place after losing to Wisconsin 37-6. The defeat of Northwestern reduced the ranks of the major college unbeaten and untied teams to four — Alabama, Southern California, Mississippi and unranked Dartmouth, the Ivy League leader. Two other majors remained unbeaten but tied once, Texas and Missouri.

The most startling shuffle among the leaders was the demotion of Northwestern and the advance of Wisconsin from eighth to fourth. Most of the other changes were only by one or two steps. Wisconsin, beaten only by Ohio State, was tied with Northwestern and Minnesota in the Big Ten race.

Alabama drew 22 of the 51 first place votes to 17 for Southern California. In points, figured on a basis of 10 for first and so on down to one for 10th, the margin was Alabama 455, Southern Cal 445.

Mississippi Is Third

Mississippi, No. 3, had three firsts and Wisconsin, No. 4, had eight firsts. The other first place vote was cast for Penn State, which was not among the leaders.

Texas placed No. 5, Missouri No. 6, Arkansas No. 7, Minnesota No. 8, Northwestern No. 9 and Louisiana State No. 10, rounding out the top ten.

Alabama disposed of rugged opposition in drubbing Miami, Fla., 36-3 and Southern California rolled over Stanford 39-14. Mississippi had no trouble thumping Chattanooga 52-7 and Wisconsin, of course, upended Northwestern.

Texas took Baylor 27-12; Missouri ran it up on Colorado 57-0; Arkansas handled Rice 28-14; Minnesota blanked Iowa 10-0 and Louisiana State eked out a 5-0 victory over Texas Christian.

All of the rated teams have two games to play, except Southern California, which still has three. The schedule does not pair any of them except for a Nov. 24 meeting of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Games This Week

Alabama faces Georgia Tech Saturday and Southern California takes on Navy. Mississippi plays Tennessee and Wisconsin has a date with Illinois, which has won only once.

The weekend schedule for the other ranked teams shows Texas at Texas Christian, Missouri at Oklahoma, Southern Methodist vs. Arkansas at Little Rock, Purdue at Minnesota, Michigan State at Northwestern and Louisiana State vs. Mississippi State at Jackson, Miss.

Match II., checked to keep from running up behind horses rounding the first turn, raced next to the inner rail for five furlongs, managed to save ground working between rivals thereafter, then closed resolutely through an opening inside the top pair in the stretch run and won going away. Kelso, away in front as the field broke in good order, with the exception of Porfido, was steadied along while being paced by Beau Purple from the outside, raced that rival into defeat after seven furlongs; gamely and evenly withstood a prolonged challenge from carry back on the final turn and into the stretch, and continued well after being displaced in the last 7 yards. Carry Back, reserved in the clear and within striking distance, moved strongly to the top pair along the inside approaching the mile, came outside Kelso and appeared menacing into the final three-sixteenths and weakened. Zabeg was permitted to st his own pace while far back, came out slightly for the final three-furlongs and closed well. Kistinie gave an even performance. Pardao was under light pressure to be forwardly placed on the outside after five furlongs and tired. Opponent II, was not a factor while showing speed in spots. Livan tired. Delvin was crowded back along the inside on the first turn, made a brief run around horses when in the clear and faltered. Beau Purple moved quickly to head Kelso for the pace, could not stay with that rival after seven furlongs and was not pressed while tiring. Lebon M. L. folded under pressure. Porfido broke some three lengths behind the field, showed speed for about three furlongs and dropped out of contention.

Golfers Elected To Hall Of Fame

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Three noted golfers of former years — Jock Hutchison, Denny Shute and Leo Diegel — and Maurie Luxford who contributed much to the sport, Monday were elected to the Helms Athletic Foundation's Golf Hall of Fame.

Hutchison won the PGA championship in 1920 and the British Open the following year. Shute was British Open Champion in 1933 and PGA champion in 1936, while Diegal was PGA champion in 1928 and 1929 as well as winning the Canadian Open four times.

Luxford was honored for his numerous activities in the sport including originatin the Victory Golf tournaments during World War II which raised $14 million in war bonds, staging the Bing Crosby championships for 18 years and other contributions.

Downes "Reluctant" Favorite In Bout

LONDON (UPI) — Former world middleweight champ Terry Downes is a "reluctant" 7-4 favorite for Tuesday night's 10-round bout against Phil Moyer of Portland, Ore., at Wembley Arena — the "reluctance" being on the part of the bookies who "don't want to know about it."

Only one of the six bookies questioned by United Press International gave a quotation. The rest said they couldn't care less.

Penn State Leads

NEW YORK (UPI) — Penn State, which defeated West Virginia while Army was beaten last Saturday, replaced the West Point Cadets as the No. 1 Eastern college football team Monday in the Lambert Trophy ratings.

Pender Will File Suit To Regain Share Of Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Gallantz, New York attorney for Paul Pender, announced Monday night he will file suit next week against the New York State Athletic Commission to force the restoration of Pender's share of the world middleweight crown.

"I will file the suit in Supreme Court, New York County," Gallantz said, "and the case should come up about 10 days after filing."

Gallantz — who was hired by Pender of Brooklin, Mass., and Pender's Boston attorney, John J. Cronnin Jr.—agreed with Cronin that when the New York Commission stripped Pender of his title last Friday and recognized Dick Tiger of Nigeria as champion it had abused its powers.

Barefoot Harrier Leads Tarheels To ACC Championship

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — Larry Henry, who runs barefoot and never competed in a race until he got to college, Monday led the University of North Carolina to its third straight Atlantic Coast Conference cross country championship.

A second-year medical student from the tiny community of Horse Shoe, N. C., Henry headed a field of 68 runners as the Tar Heels captured the conference title going away.

Five Tar Heels were among the first 11 finishers. North Carolina had 31 points and Duke and Maryland tied for the runnerup spot with 51 (low score wins).

Henry sprinted home ahead of Duke's Louis Van Dyck by eight yards and completed the 4.1 mile distance over Finley Golf Course in a record 20:43.6. Van Dyck had beaten Henry twice previously.

Close behind that pair was John Garten of Maryland.

Giardello Wins

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lehtargic Joe Giardello pounded out a split decision Monday night over Johnny Morris in a slow 10-round fight at Baltimore's new Civic Center.

Giardello, 162, of Philadelphia, won 49-43 on the card of Judge Tom Kelly. Referee Benny Goldstein scored it 47-44, also for Giardello. Judge Jimmy Jones had it 47-46 for Morris, 161¾, of Pittsburgh.

Terp Booters Cop ACC Title

Defeat Tarheels, 7-0, Rowe Gets Six Goals

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Center forward Rich Rowe scored six goals Monday as Maryland clinched its 10th straight Atlantic Coast Conference soccer championship, defeating North Carolina 7-0.

Rowe, whose six goals tied a conference record for a single game, set a new ACC mark wtih 20 goals for the season. The old record was 17.

Rowe opened the scoring in the second period. His goal was followed shortly afterward by another, which was booted in by Oyten Tertemiz. Maryland held a 2-0 halftime edge.

The third and fourth periods were dominated by Rowe. He scored four in the third and his sixth goal in the final quarter.

Outside Right Frank Marasco assisted on four of the goals.

Maryland, whose record is 7-0 on the season, meets Navy here Wednesday in a game that may decide who receives the NCAA Southern Regional playoff bid. Navy also is undefeated.

The loss ruined North Carolina's unblemished conference status and gave the Tar Heels a 6-2 record.

Jerry Groves, on a quarterback keeper play, raced 35 yards for the only touchdown for the Little Mountaineers, who have a 2-2-1 record. Denny Carolan plunged over from three yards out for LaSalle's only score. The Jatter team's log is 1-2-1.

Lemmond, whose home was in Charlotte, N.C., was one of the tallest players on Coach Lyles Alley's Furman squad.

32,800 See France's Match II Win 11th Washington International

Kelso Second, Carry Back 3d In Laurel Race

Zabeg From Russia Is 4th; Purse Of $70,000 To Winner

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — America's Kelso and Carry Back battled for the lead into the homestretch Monday, but France's Match II slipped through along the rail and won the 11th running of the $125,000 Washington, D.C., International before a roaring throng of 32,800 at Laurel Race Course.

Match II won $70,000 as first-prize money.

It was one of the greatest runnings of the classic with 13 horses from nine nations vieing for the horse championship of the world.

And at the finish of the gruelling 1½-mile contest over Laurel's infield grass course, Match II was 1½ lengths ahead of Kelso, the beaten favorite of the 1961 international taken by T. V. Lark.

Kelso, who had shaken off the challenge of Carry Back shortly after turning into the homestretch, beat the 1961 Kentucky Derby winner to the wire by 4½ lengths. Then came the persistent Russian 5-year-old Zabeg, fourth for the second year in a row, and third in the 1960 running.

Beau Purple Is 11th

This was a horse race, and no doubts about it, as the favored Beau Purple found out. The Beau, who upset Kelso and Carry Back in the $100,000 Man O'War Stakes last month at Belmont Park, fought for the lead in the early part with Kelso and then Carry Back, but faded and wound up eleventh in the field.

Match II rated the toughest of the foreign contingent, is owned by Francois Dupre, World War I flyer and Paris hotelman, whose Midnight Sun finished second to America's Bald Eagle in the 1959 International.

Kelso, horse of the year in the U.S. for the last two years, probably earned an unprecedented third championship for his efforts unless the pollsters want to hand the honors to the French colt.

Mrs. Richard C. duPont's Kelso, Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back, and Jack Dreyfus Jr.'s Beau Purple had been in a three-way struggle for the horse of the year designation going into the race.

Relic American Sire

Yves Saint-Martin, 21, a jockey hailed in France as "the golden boy," rode Match, a dark bay son of Tantieme-Relance, by Relic. So the U.S. also can claim some fame, for Relic is an American sire

Match, Kelso, Carry Back and the other older horses all were slated to carry 126 pounds. But Yves reported two pounds overweight and his mount packed 128 pounds.

His time was a good 2:28 1-5, considering the track was softened by heavy rains late last week. T. V. Lark set the track and International record of 2:26 1-5 on firm footing a year ago when he beat Kelso by three quarters of a length.

France's Third Win

In becoming the third French horse and sixth invader to capture Laurel's spectacular classic, Match II paid $14.20, $6.00 and $4.00. Kelso, who was second choice at $2.10 to $1 compared to Beau Purple at $2 to $1, returned $4.00 and $3.20. Carry Back was away at 4-1, and paid $4.80 to show.

Ismael Valenzuela, riding Kelso in his third International, said his efforts to stay with Beau Purple ridden by Bill Holand in the early stages, cost him the race. He said he saw Match coming in the stretch, but "I couldn't do anything about it, as my horse was tiring from the pace.

"I was supposed to watch the pace, but now follow too closely," said Saint-Martin through an interpreter. "Match did not really start to run until the last half mile."

Carry Back Weakens

Johnny Rotz said Carry Back ran his best 1½ mile race, "But he weakened a little the last quarter. Going down the backside, I thought I'd win it easily, for I had a lot of horse under me."

After Zabeg, France's Kistinie was fifth, followed by Pardao of England, Germany's Opponent, the other Soviet horse, Livan, Delvin of Italy, Japan's Takamagahara, Beau Purple, Lebon M.L. of Canada, and Porfido of Peru, who was eased after the end.

FRANCE WINS INTERNATIONAL — Match 2nd from France, Yves St. Martin in the saddle, crosses the finish line yesterday to win the eleventh running of the Washington D. C. International race at Laurel (Md.) Race Course. On the outside, running second, is U. S.'s Kelso, with Carry Back, third, and Russia's Zabeg, fourth. The winner paid $14.40 on a $2 win ticket. The victory, France's third in the International, was worth $70,000 to the owner of Match 2nd. (AP Photofax)

32,800 See France's Match II Win 11th Washington International

Kelso Second, Carry Back 3d In Laurel Race

Zabeg From Russia Is 4th; Purse Of $70,000 To Winner

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — America's Kelso and Carry Back battled for the lead into the homestretch Monday, but France's Match II slipped through along the rail and won the 11th running of the $125,000 Washington, D.C., International before a roaring throng of 32,800 at Laurel Race Course.

Match II won $70,000 as first-prize money.

It was one of the greatest runnings of the classic with 13 horses from nine nations vieing for the horse championship of the world.

And at the finish of the gruelling 1½-mile contest over Laurel's infield grass course, Match II was 1½ lengths ahead of Kelso, the beaten favorite of the 1961 international taken by T. V. Lark.

Kelso, who had shaken off the challenge of Carry Back shortly after turning into the homestretch, beat the 1961 Kentucky Derby winner to the wire by 4½ lengths. Then came the persistent Russian 5-year-old Zabeg, fourth for the second year in a row, and third in the 1960 running.

Beau Purple Is 11th

This was a horse race, and no doubts about it, as the favored Beau Purple found out. The Beau, who upset Kelso and Carry Back in the $100,000 Man O'War Stakes last month at Belmont Park, fought for the lead in the early part with Kelso and then Carry Back, but faded and wound up eleventh in the field.

Match II rated the toughest of the foreign contingent, is owned by Francois Dupre, World War I flyer and Paris hotelman, whose Midnight Sun finished second to America's Bald Eagle in the 1959 International.

Kelso, horse of the year in the U.S. for the last two years, probably earned an unprecedented third championship for his efforts unless the pollsters want to hand the honors to the French colt.

Mrs. Richard C. duPont's Kelso, Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back, and Jack Dreyfus Jr.'s Beau Purple had been in a three-way struggle for the horse of the year designation going into the race.

Relic American Sire

Yves Saint-Martin, 21, a jockey hailed in France as "the golden boy," rode Match, a dark bay son of Tantieme-Relance, by Relic. So the U.S. also can claim some fame, for Relic is an American sire.

Match, Kelso, Carry Back and the other older horses all were slated to carry 126 pounds. But Yves reported two pounds overweight and his mount packed 128 pounds.

His time was a good 2:28 1-5, considering the track was softened by heavy rains late last week. T. V. Lark set the track and International record of 2:26 1-5 on firm footing a year ago when he beat Kelso by three quarters of a length.

France's Third Win

In becoming the third French horse and sixth invader to capture Laurel's spectacular classic, Match II paid $14.20, $6.00 and $4.00. Kelso, who was second choice at $2.10 to $1 compared to Beau Purple at $2 to $1, returned $4.00 and $3.20. Carry Back was away at 4-1, and paid $4.80 to show.

Ismael Valenzuela, riding Kelso in his third International, said his efforts to stay with Beau Purple ridden by Bill Holand in the early stages, cost him the race. He said he saw Match coming in the stretch, but "I couldn't do anything about it, as my horse was tiring from the pace.

"I was supposed to watch the pace, but now follow too closely," said Saint-Martin through an interpreter. "Match did not really start to run until the last half mile."

Carry Back Weakens

Johnny Rotz said Carry Back ran his best 1½ mile race, "But he weakened a little the last quarter. Going down the backside, I thought I'd win it easily, for I had a lot of horse under me."

After Zabeg, France's Kistinie was fifth, followed by Pardao of England, Germany's Opponent, the other Soviet horse, Livan, Delvin of Italy, Japan's Takamagahara, Beau Purple, Lebon M.L. of Canada, and Porfido of Peru, who was eased after the end.

Opening lead: Ace of ♣

If I ever adopt a coat of arms, I am quite sure the filing cabinet will be my motif. When bridge activities simmer down and material for the column becomes scarce, my old files are a great source of comfort. Today's incident dates back a number of years to the time our National Championships were held in St. Louis.

The auction was sound. North's rebid of two hearts denotes a hand of considerable power, inasmuch as it requires South to return to the three level if he wishes to show a preference for diamonds. When South rebids spades, North is fully justified in jumping to game. South was certain from his partner's strong bidding that the latter had no more than one club and, when the Blackwood inquiry revealed that only one ace was missing, South bid a small slam in spades.

West opened the ace of clubs, even tho the singleton diamond would have proven to be a more effective choice. When North proved to have only one club, West shifted to a diamond, and the king was played from the dummy.

Declarer reëntered his hand with a trump to ruff out his other club. The king of spades was overtaken by the ace as both opponents followed. South decided to run a few extra rounds of trump. He accordingly played two more spades reducing the deal to the following position:

NORTH
♡ A K 10 8
◇ A 10

WEST
♡ 9 6 4 2
♣ J 10

EAST
♡ Q 7 5 3
◇ Q 8

SOUTH
♠ 7 3
♡ J
◇ J 7 5

On the last two trumps, East had thrown away high clubs which made it appear that he was protecting something in both red suits. South accordingly led another spade and discarded the ten of diamonds from the North hand. East was afraid to throw a diamond for this would permit declarer to run that suit by merely cashing the ace in dummy and then ruffing himself in with a heart. East therefore discarded a heart, but South now played the top two hearts from dummy and ruffed away the queen on the next round. North's ace of diamonds and ten of hearts took the final two tricks.

Opening lead: Ace of ♣

If I ever adopt a coat of arms, I am quite sure the filing cabinet will be my motif. When bridge activities simmer down and material for the column becomes scarce, my old files are a great source of comfort. Today's incident dates back a number of years to the time our National Championships were held in St. Louis.

The auction was sound. North's rebid of two hearts denotes a hand of considerable power, inasmuch as it requires South to return to the three level if he wishes to show a preference for diamonds. When South rebids spades, North is fully justified in jumping to game. South was certain from his partner's strong bidding that the latter had no more than one club and, when the Blackwood inquiry revealed that only one ace was missing, South bid a small slam in spades.

West opened the ace of clubs, even tho the singleton diamond would have proven to be a more effective choice. When North proved to have only one club, West shifted to a diamond, and the king was played from the dummy.

Declarer reëntered his hand with a trump to ruff out his other club. The king of spades was overtaken by the ace as both opponents followed. South decided to run a few extra rounds of trump. He accordingly played two more spades reducing the deal to the following position:

NORTH
♡ A K 10 8
◇ A 10

WEST
♡ 9 6 4 2
♣ J 10

EAST
♡ Q 7 5 3
◇ Q 8

SOUTH
♠ 7 3
♡ J
◇ J 7 5

On the last two trumps, East had thrown away high clubs which made it appear that he was protecting something in both red suits. South accordingly led another spade and discarded the ten of diamonds from the North hand. East was afraid to throw a diamond for this would permit declarer to run that suit by merely cashing the ace in dummy and then ruffing himself in with a heart. East therefore discarded a heart, but South now played the top two hearts from dummy and ruffed away the queen on the next round. North's ace of diamonds and ten of hearts took the final two tricks.

Parks Officials Hear Of Dan's Mountain Plans

Artificial Lake Suggested For Area

The Georges Creek Improvement Association yesterday outlined to officials of the Master Planning Commission of the State Department of Forests and Parks how $25,000 included in the 1962 Capital Improvements Budget will be used to improve the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area near Lonaconing.

The improvement plan was outlined to S. Lawrence Hammerman, chairman of the Master Planning Commission; John P. Hewitt, director of parks, National Capital Parks and Planning Commission, and Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the state department, as they stopped in this area yesterday while on an inspection tour of Western Maryland recreational facilities.

Outlining specific projects to be accomplished from funds included in the state budget were Bernard Cordial, chairman; Edward D. McPartland, co-chairman, and State Senator Elect George R. Hughes Jr., a member of the Georges Creek Improvement Association.

Suggest Lake

The Georges Creek unit officials also briefed the parks officials on what it hopes can be done for the recreation area in the future.

Included was the need for acquiring some additional land to straighten the boundaries of the area, the completion of a playing field on the top of the mountain and an artificial lake which would provide swimming and skating facilities.

The construction of the lake would depend upon the availability of water. Plans are being made by the Department of Forests and Parks to drill for water in the near future.

Mr. Cordial said the state officials made no definite commitment regarding future improvements of the recreation area.

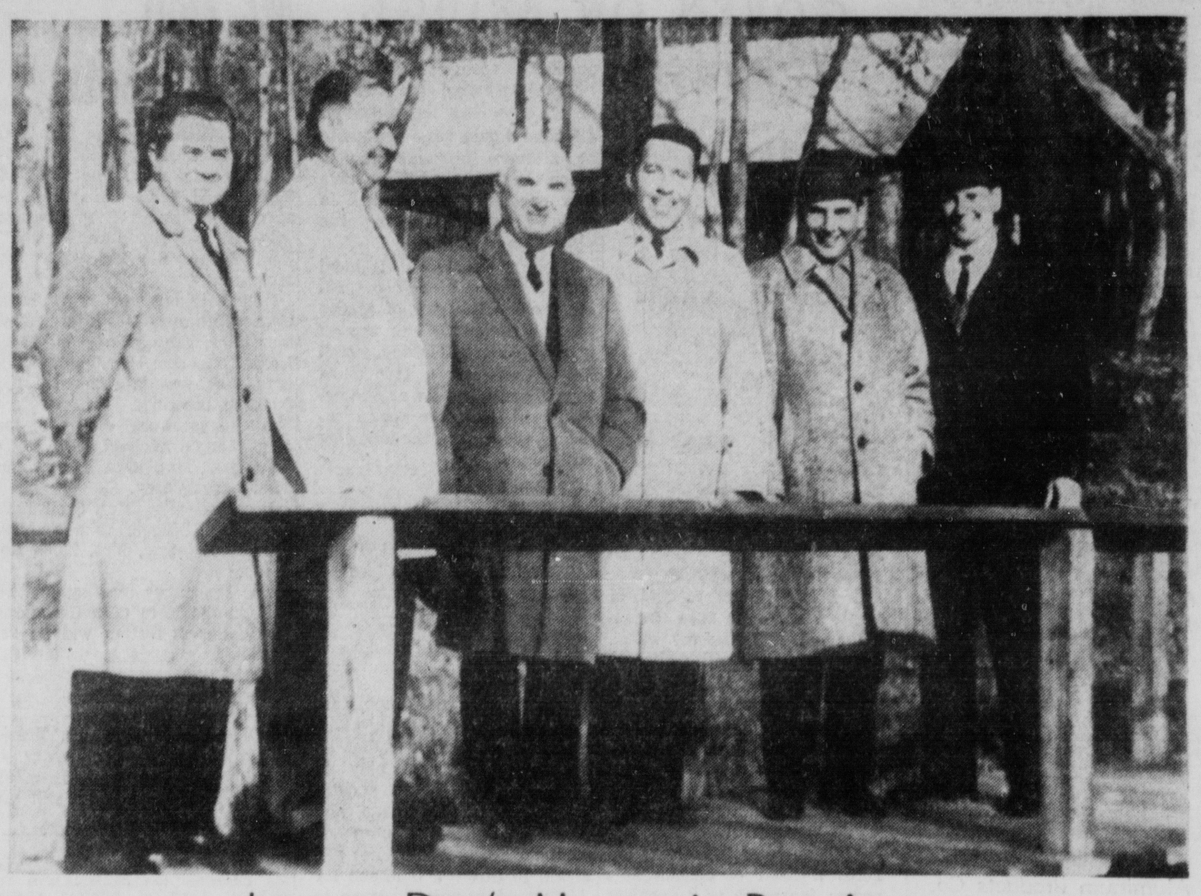
They said, however, that they were impressed with the land, its location and the beauty of the area and indicated the area plans for improvement will receive favorable consideration.

Meeting Planned

Mr. Hammerman noted he did not know what could be done at this time but that it would be a shame not to make full use of the resources of the recreation area.

Plans are being made, Mr. Cordial said, to set up a meeting of the Georges Creek Improvement Association in December.

He said the association hopes William A. Parr, supervisor of state parks, can attend and show pictures of recreational facilities which could be adapted to the Lonaconing area recreational facility.



Inspect Dan's Mountain Rec Area

Officials of the Master Planning Commission of the Department of Forests and Parks are seen at the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area yesterday with officials of the Georges Creek Improvement Association. In the group, left to right, are Edward D. McPartland, Lonaconing, co-chairman of the area commission; Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the State Department of Forests and Parks; S. Lawrence Hammerman, chairman, Master Planning Commission; State Senator Elect George R. Hughes Jr., a member of the Georges Creek unit; Bernard Cordial, president of the Georges Creek Improvement Association, and John P. Hewitt, director of Parks, Maryland National Capital Parks and Planning Commission.

Two-Way Radios Speed Work At Sheriff's Office

The Allegany County sheriff's office, which recently installed two-way radios in the three cruisers, has learned that the operation of the communications setup has stepped up law enforcement.

Although a transmitter and receiver have not been installed as yet at the office, Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein and his deputies have joined the frequency of the Maryland State Police barracks at LaVale and in time will have their necessary equipment at the office on Prospect Square.

The sheriff said yesterday he plans to request funds from the County Board of Commissioners to make a large office out of two small rooms on the first floor of the building.

The transmitter and receiver will be installed in the new office space, according to the sheriff, who said funds for the equipment have been approved.

Floyd D. Harper of Wes-Mar Communications Sales and Service, who will maintain the radio equipment, has been instructing the sheriff and deputies on the use of the new radios. Other sessions are scheduled in the future, according to Sheriff Haberlein, who said the men are studying proper radio procedure.

The other day a call was received at the sheriff's office from the State's Attorney's office in connection with a complaint received from LaVale.

It seems some persons were soliciting magazine subscriptions and when one was questioned about his being a legitimate salesman, he became "sassy."

Within minutes after the complaint was received, one of the deputies, out on a civil matter was reached by radio and had the magazine crew chief in the State's Attorney's office.

Education Is Fundamental To America

Schools Conducting Programs This Week

"The concept of free public education for all the children of all the people is fundamental to our American way of life," said Thomas Shaffer, chairman of the Allegany County Teachers Association's public relations committee, which is joining the state and nation in the observance of American Education Week.

"Anyone who advocates that our schools and colleges put their entire emphasis on the exceptionally talented, at the expense of the average student, should be reminded of the concept that has helped build our nation to its present greatness," he added.

Public schools of the county are observing the week. Each day has a special theme designed to play importance to each aspect of the educational scene.

Now is a good time to visit a school, one of your responsibilities as an American citizen.

The purpose of observing a week set aside especially for education is to make every American aware of the important role it plays in a democracy, and to help him realize that good schools and colleges are his personal responsibility.

"In this age of great technological and sociological change, many aspects of American education are changing to meet the new challenges," Mr. Shaffer pointed out.

He thanks all groups and individuals who helped make this observance possible in the county and special thanks to those who find time to visit a school during the week.

Other members of the public relations committee, which had charge of the week's observance, are Harry R. Thomas, John Watach, Glen Geis and Mrs. Nellie Thomas Isaacs.

Getty Urges Manslaughter Law Change

Would Amend Gross Negligence Ruling

BALTIMORE (AP)—The state's attorney of Allegany County, James S. Getty, has urged that the definition of gross negligence as it applies to motor vehicle manslaughter cases be amended.

Getty contends that such a step would help check Maryland's mounting highway death toll.

Several bills that would have reduced gross negligence to a lesser degree of guilt, making it easier to gain a conviction against a driver who takes another person's life, have been defeated in the state legislature.

Getty also urged rigid enforcement of traffic laws and the elimination of political influence in havingt raffic charges dismissed or suspended.

He made the observation in reply to a letter from Paul L. Sullivan, executive director of the Eleventh District Civic League of Baltimore County.

The league is spearheading a drive to tighten Maryland's auto manslaughter laws at the 1963 General Assembly.

The group has recommended that a manslaughter charge be placed automatically against all persons involved in a fatal accident, and that the case bypass a magistrate's hearing and go directly to the grand jury.

Getty said the procedure proposed by the league would not necessarily deter reckless driving and, moreover, did nothing about the ross negligence aspect of the law.

Sullivan, commenting on Getty's remarks about eliminating political influence, said he knew of no better way to do this than by abolishing a magistrate's hearing.

Red Cross Sets Yule Program For Servicemen

Plans for a new Christmas program for servicemen, "The Voice From Home," have been completed by Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

The program, sponsored by the home service department of the chapter, is a free service for family members to make recordings to send to the serviceman, husband, father, son or brother, who will not be home for Christmas.

The "Voice from Home" has been a project of a number of other chapters across the country, but this will be the first time it has been offered in this area.

The Red Cross suggests that the message be planned ahead of time with use of notes, although the message should not be read. Six to 12 minute records will be available.

Over 900 Students Get Advice On Varied Careers

More than 900 juniors and seniors from Allegany County's eight senior high schools were reminded at the start of the first annual county-wide Career Day yesterday afternoon at Allegany High School that "able, skillful and well-educated" people will be leading this nation in the 1980s.

James Preaskorn, guidance counselor at Valley High School, who is president of the county guidance group, was master of ceremonies for the opening segment of the Career Day program in the Allegany auditorium.

Before the curtains were opened to show a stage full of Career Day consultants, the youngsters engaged in impromptu cheers for their respective schools. Apparently, despite the fact that they were meeting at Allegany, students from the other seven public high schools of the county wanted to make it clear that they were not a part of Allegany High School.

Gives Invocation

Rev. George A. Hazen, the consultant on the ministry, delivered the invocation. Then Chief Elmo Bollman of the Navy, a consultant on that branch of the armed forces, led the group in the pledge of allegiance.

Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School extended a welcome during which he expressed a hope that the students would enjoy a profitable afternoon at Allegany. He said he trusted that this was merely the first of a series of county-wide Career Days and he urged the students to make the most of the opportunity to get more information about careers which interested them.

Three of the five members of the County Board of Education, J. Goodloe Jackson, Mrs. George M. Young and T. Donald Shires, were present to be introduced. Mr. Shires was the consultant on journalism.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster reminded the juniors and seniors that they are compiling their own records in high school and can blame no one but

Book Week In Progress At Library

If you like to read good books now is the time to visit the Allegany County Library or its branches in LaVale, Frostburg and Westernport and help celebrate National Book Week now in progress.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said yesterday that some books, especially appealing to children, are on display at the library on Washington Street.

Miss Walsh explained that the medal, awarded annually, had its beginnings in 1921 when Frederic G. Melcher, now chairman of the board of the R. R. Bowker Company, proposed an incentive toward better quality in children's books.

He offered a medal to be given to the author of the most distinguished conrtibution to American literature for children published during the preceding year. This he named after John Newberry, famous 18th century English publisher and seller of children's books.

Selection of the book and presentation of the award are made each year by the Children's Services Division of the American Library Association.

In observance of Book Week, Miss Walsh is giving away attractive book marks to those who go to the library or branches.

Parks Officials Hear Of Dan's Mountain Plans

Artificial Lake Suggested For Area

The Georges Creek Improvement Association yesterday outlined to officials of the Master Planning Commission of the State Department of Forests and Parks how $25,000 included in the 1962 Capital Improvements Budget will be used to improve the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area near Lonaconing.

The improvement plan was outlined to S. Lawrence Hammerman, chairman of the Master Planning Commission; John P. Hewitt, director of parks, National Capital Parks and Planning Commission, and Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the state department, as they stopped in this area yesterday while on an inspection tour of Western Maryland recreational facilities.

Outlining specific projects to be accomplished from funds included in the state budget were Bernard Cordial, chairman; Edward D. McPartland, co-chairman, and State Senator Elect George R. Hughes Jr., a member of the Georges Creek Improvement Association.

Suggest Lake

The Georges Creek unit officials also briefed the parks officials on what it hopes can be done for the recreation area in the future.

Included was the need for acquiring some additional land to straighten the boundaries of the area, the completion of a playing field on the top of the mountain and an artificial lake which would provide swimming and skating facilities.

The construction of the lake would depend upon the availability of water. Plans are being made by the Department of Forests and Parks to drill for water in the near future.

Mr. Cordial said the state officials made no definite commitment regarding future improvements of the recreation area.

They said, however, that they were impressed with the land, its location and the beauty of the area and indicated the area plans for improvement will receive favorable consideration.

Meeting Planned

Mr. Hammerman noted he did not know what could be done at this time but that it would be a shame not to make full use of the resources of the recreation area.

Plans are being made, Mr. Cordial said, to set up a meeting of the Georges Creek Improvement Association in December.

He said the association hopes William A. Parr, supervisor of state parks, can attend and show pictures of recreational facilities which could be adapted to the Lonaconing area recreational facility.

Two-Way Radios Speed Work At Sheriff's Office

The Allegany County sheriff's office, which recently installed two-way radios in the three cruisers, has learned that the operation of the communications setup has stepped up law enforcement.

Although a transmitter and receiver have not been installed as yet at the office, Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein and his deputies have joined the frequency of the Maryland State Police barracks at LaVale and in time will have their necessary equipment at the office on Prospect Square.

The sheriff said yesterday he plans to request funds from the County Board of Commissioners to make a large office out of two small rooms on the first floor of the building.

The transmitter and receiver will be installed in the new office space, according to the sheriff, who said funds for the equipment have been approved.

Floyd D. Harper of Wes-Mar Communications Sales and Service, who will maintain the radio equipment, has been instructing the sheriff and deputies on the use of the new radios. Other sessions are scheduled in the future, according to Sheriff Haberlein, who said the men are studying proper radio procedure.

The other day a call was received at the sheriff's office from the State's Attorney's office in connection with a complaint received from LaVale.

It seems some persons were soliciting magazine subscriptions and when one was questioned about his being a legitimate salesman, he became "sassy."

Within minutes after the complaint was received, one of the deputies, out on a civil matter was reached by radio and had the magazine crew chief in the State's Attorney's office.

Education Is Fundamental To America

Schools Conducting Programs This Week

"The concept of free public education for all the children of all the people is fundamental to our American way of life," said Thomas Shaffer, chairman of the Allegany County Teachers Association's public relations committee, which is joining the state and nation in the observance of American Education Week.

"Anyone who advocates that our schools and colleges put their entire emphasis on the exceptionally talented, at the expense of the average student, should be reminded of the concept that has helped build our nation to its present greatness," he added.

Public schools of the county are observing the week. Each day has a special theme designed to play importance to each aspect of the educational scene.

Now is a good time to visit a school, one of your responsibilities as an American citizen.

The purpose of observing a week set aside especially for education is to make every American aware of the important role it plays in a democracy, and to help him realize that good schools and colleges are his personal responsibility.

"In this age of great technological and sociological change, many aspects of American education are changing to meet the new challenges," Mr. Shaffer pointed out.

He thanks all groups and individuals who helped make this observance possible in the county and special thanks to those who find time to visit a school during the week.

Other members of the public relations committee, which had charge of the week's observance, are Harry R. Thomas, John Watach, Glen Geis and Mrs. Nellie Thomas Isaacs.

Getty Urges Manslaughter Law Change

Would Amend Gross Negligence Ruling

BALTIMORE (AP)—The state's attorney of Allegany County, James S. Getty, has urged that the definition of gross negligence as it applies to motor vehicle manslaughter cases be amended.

Getty contends that such a step would help check Maryland's mounting highway death toll.

Several bills that would have reduced gross negligence to a lesser degree of guilt, making it easier to gain a conviction against a driver who takes another person's life, have been defeated in the state legislature.

Getty also urged rigid enforcement of traffic laws and the elimination of political influence in havingt raffic charges dismissed or suspended.

He made the observation in reply to a letter from Paul L. Sullivan, executive director of the Eleventh District Civic League of Baltimore County.

The league is spearheading a drive to tighten Maryland's auto manslaughter laws at the 1963 General Assembly.

The group has recommended that a manslaughter charge be placed automatically against all persons involved in a fatal accident, and that the case bypass a magistrate's hearing and go directly to the grand jury.

Getty said the procedure proposed by the league would not necessarily deter reckless driving and, moreover, did nothing about the ross negligence aspect of the law.

Sullivan, commenting on Getty's remarks about eliminating political influence, said he knew of no better way to do this than by abolishing a magistrate's hearing.
